FLAG PROTECTS U. S. REFUGEES IN CHINA

Fleeing from Shanghai

When American refugees were evacuated from Shanghai aboard this tender bound for the liner President Jefferson, a huge American flag signaled its mission, but the boat was forced to run between the criss-cross fire of Japanese and Chinese batteries as it raced up the Whangpoo river. It was because the flag was the only protection afforded the refugees that Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., one of those aboard the tender, voiced a sharp criticism of the state department for not providing armed convoys when she returned to United States. NATURALIZATION CLASS TO TAKE TESTS MONDAY

Three Applicants for Citizenship Will Appear Before U. S. Examiner in Common Pleas Court Room.

Marion county's annual naturalization class for its residents of foreign birth will be held at 1 p. m. Monday with an examiner from the regional immigration office at Cincinnati in charge, Clerk of Courts Carl F. Haberman said today. The class will be held in common pleas court room with Judge Hector S. Young presiding.

After the applicants for citizenship have passed the oral examinations they are given the oath of citizenship and their final papers.

Only three persons are scheduled for the class this year. They are Robert John Steen of Morral R. D. No. 2, born in County Tyrone, Ireland, in July of 1883 and coming to the United States in 1920; Daniel Joseph McDonald of 176 Chicago avenue, born June 9, 1884, on Prince Edward Island, an English possession, immigrated to United States in June of 1923; and Mrs. Mary Theresa Bedford McDonald, his wife, born Jan. 9, 1894, in Rosendale, Manitoba, coming to the United States March 30, 1923.

One of the candidates for citizenship not listed for examination Monday, is reported to have been voting in Marion county for more than 40 years under the impression that he was a citizen. The fact that he was not a citizen came to light when he was questioned when applying for an old age pension several months ago, Mr. Haberman said.

As a result of a new policy of the immigration department, several other residents of the county who filed their declarations of candidacy for citizenship more than two years ago apparently will not be examined Monday, Mr. Haberman said. Formerly after a two-year period from the filing of the declaration a person could make his petition for citizenship.

Among the residents of the county so affected are Luigi Reale of 669 West Center street, born Feb. 19, 1890, in Cirmina, Italy; Philipp Heinrich Nickel, farmer of Prospect R. D. No. 1, born July 10, 1914, in Bruckasbel, Germany, coming here in 1925.

Other persons who are asked to report to the examiner Monday in preparation for filing petitions include the two listed above, Mrs. Elena Popoff of 347 Pearl street, Alfred Michiel LaPierre of 269 Uhler avenue, native of Montreal, Canada, and Watson M. Ireland of Oak street.

Shells Crash in Front of U. S. Consulate in China

Three Chinese Civilians and British Policeman Hurt; 100 More American Marines Land in Shanghai.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9—Three one pounder shells crashed directly in front of the American consulate-general this afternoon, seriously injuring three Chinese civilians and one British Sikh policeman.

The "pom-pom" shells were fired from Chinese guns just north of the international settlement border apparently at four low-flying Japanese bombers.

Just previously one hundred additional American marines had been landed from Admiral Harry Yarnell's yacht Isabel after a hurried trip from Tsingtao. They swelled the United States land forces to 1,300 marines.

The marines were moved into place immediately behind the fortifications lining the northern border of the international settlement, where the American forces guard the most hazardous section of the boundary.

Chinese troops clung tenaciously to their main lines on all fronts in the face of incessant and sustained attacks from the combined Japanese army, airforce and navy.

Chinese struck a new blow at the Japanese navy today by blockading the upper reaches of the Yangtze river with a barrier just below Silver Island, some 30 miles east of Nanking.

The barricade of obsolete steamers and Chinese junks loaded with sand and concrete effectively blocked the Japanese fleet from spreading its activities far up river from Shanghai. It meant that any considerable advance of the Japanese would place their land forces beyond the protecting range of their warships' guns.

Gunboats Bottled Up

The barrier also bottled up the United States fleet of river gunboats on the Yangtze and made more difficult the evacuation of 1,200 war-beleaguered refugees of Hankow, 550 miles up the Yangtze from Shanghai, as well as other Americans in various parts of the valley.

Nearly 500 American officers and sailors are aboard the six gunboats marooned up the river. They have food suplies for six months, however, and Admiral Yarnell felt no concern for their safety.

At Amoy, in south China, American residents were forced to scurry underground into bombproof dugouts for protection against a ...

MENTION WEST FOR PRESIDENT

Ohioan May Oppose Davey Next Year as Step Toward National Race in 1940.

STALWART NEW DEALER

Some Believe Sawyer Would Drop Out of Race To Give West Better Chance.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—Speculation developed here today on the possibility that Charles West, undersecretary of the interior, would be a "dark horse" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940.

The discussion arose from recent reports the former economics professor and representative from Ohio might oppose Gov. Martin L. Davey for the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio in the primaries next August.

West, wholehearted administration supporter and contact man for President Roosevelt in congress, opposed Vic Donahey for the senatorial nomination in 1934.

Observers here suggested West, if nominated and elected governor, would receive consideration as a presidential possibility.

Efforts to contact West for comment on reports concerning the governorship failed and aids said he had not discussed the matter publicly.

Prior to discussion of West as a potential foe of Davey, it was understood generally the governor probably would have only one serious opponent in the primaries, former Lieutenant Governor Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati, Democratic national committeeman from Ohio.

Ohioans here believed Davey with his state organization would win the nomination easily in a three-cornered fight, but the outcome probably would be uncertain if the governor had only one opponent. They suggested that because of this situation, Sawyer might remain out of the race if West desired to enter.

The labor question is expected to complicate the gubernatorial primaries, particularly in view of John L. Lewis' recent declaration that Davey is "governor of Ohio but not for long." The governor sent national guardsmen to Youngstown during reopening of steel mills closed by a strike conducted by Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

The C.I.O. leader indicated his organization would oppose Davey's renomination. Whether Sawyer or West could obtain C.I.O. support is a question not yet answered.

CORN CROP GOOD BUT NOT OF BUMPER PROPORTIONS

Lack of Rain in Recent Weeks Keeps Ears from Developing to Full Size; 2,600,000,000 Bushels Expected.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 9—That bumper corn crop which farmers were talking about two months ago isn't going to be bumper after all.

With the harvest season only a few weeks away crop experts said today it now looks like only a good-sized crop — around 2,600,000,000 bushels. This would be over a billion bushels more than last year and the biggest yield since 1932, but it causes farmers like to reserve use of the term bumper for corn yields of upwards of three billion bushels.

Lack of rainfall in recent weeks over a goodly portion of the corn belt resulted in ... the crop which ... was regarded ... situation ... believed to ... the yield. ... [illegible]

The executors of the estate are Mrs. Susie B. Kling, the widow, and Harry J. Merchant. The appraisal was signed by the appraisers, the executors, Bartram & Bartram, attorneys for the executors, and two daughters of the deceased, Mrs. Hazel K. Longshore and Miss Louise Kling.

DEATH CLAIMS DR. J. A. DODD AT CRILE CLINIC

Marion Physician and Surgeon Passes Away After Brief Illness.

PRACTICED HERE 18 YEARS

One of Family Noted for Five Generations of Doctors; Served in World War.

Dr. John Andrew Dodd, 55, Marion physician and surgeon since 1919, died at 5:30 o'clock this morning in the Crile clinic in Cleveland where he had gone for treatment Aug. 29. Death was caused by carcinoma.

Although he had been affected by the illness for some time he had been active in his practice here until going to the clinic.

Mrs. Dodd, who has been in Cleveland with her husband for several days, returned to the Dodd residence at 307 Franklin street this morning.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at First Presbyterian church with Rev. Howard Otewiler officiating. The body will be at the church from 8 to 9 a. m. Saturday. It will be taken to the Dodd home at 9:30 a. m. Friday and friends may call at the home after that time until Saturday morning.

Burial will be in Washington, Pa., at about 5 p. m. Saturday. Arrangements for services at Washington have not been completed.

Since coming to Marion in November, 1919, Dr. Dodd had taken a prominent part in medical and civic circles. In 1935 he served as president of the Marion Academy of Medicine and always had taken an active interest in its programs.

Family of Physicians

His death brings to a close a family history in the medical profession, probably matched but few times in the United States. He was the fifth generation in a direct line of descent of the Dodd family to follow the profession. The line started with his great-great grandfather, Thaddeus C. Dodd, who after graduating from Princeton university migrated from his native New Jersey across the Allegheny mountains to Washington, Pa., in 1773.

The original Dr. Dodd also was a Presbyterian minister and as such established Washington college at Washington, Pa., which later became Washington and Jefferson university. The college was the first seat of classical learning west of the Allegheny mountains.

Dr. Dodd was born Sept. 7, 1882, at Van Buren, Pa., near Washington, where his father had continued the family name in medicine. He marked his fifty-fifth anniversary last Tuesday.

As a young man he entered Washington Academy and after graduating there enrolled in Washington and Jefferson, representing the fourth generation of his family to attend that school. After obtaining his arts and master degrees he entered the medical school of Western Reserve university in Cleveland and graduated there in 1912. Before completing his work, however, he served a year's internship in St. Margaret's hospital in Cleveland and later served another internship in Lakeside hospital in Cleveland.

Associated With Crile

It was at Lakeside hospital that he first became associated with Dr. George Crile, in whose hospital he died this morning. At the clinic his illness was diagnosed as carcinoma of the sigmoid flexture.

Dr. Dodd first began the practice of medicine in 1914 in Moscow, Idaho, as the associate of Dr. Charles L. Gritman, who headed a private hospital there. The two physicians had met shortly before this when Dr. Gritman visited the Lakeside hospital and Dr. Dodd was assigned to conduct him through the institution. Attracted by the younger man Dr. Gritman asked him to help him with his work in Idaho.

For three years Dr. Dodd stayed in Idaho, leaving in 1917 to enlist in the medical corps for service in the World war. ... [illegible]

C.I.O. REQUESTS SUIT DISMISSAL

Davey and Marx Lawyers Object to Demand, Want Troop Action Vindicated.

JUDGE TO HEAR DEBATE

Union Cites Fact Soldiers Have Been Withdrawn from Strike Front.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 9—Committee for Industrial Organization attorneys asked Federal District Judge Mell G. Underwood today to dismiss without prejudice to any future suit their petition for an injunction against use of troops in the Mahoning valley steel strike area.

The defense, representing Gov. Martin L. Davey, Adjutant Gen. Emil Marx and the state of Ohio, immediately objected to dismissal, contending the plaintiff's witnesses had been heard and the defense was entitled to present testimony.

Judge Underwood agreed to hear arguments for and against the dismissal motion.

Cites Withdrawal

Edward Lamb of Toledo, C.I.O. counsel, said in his motion that the original petition, filed June 26, had sought relief and a temporary restrainer against use of troops to protect workers in steel mills affected by the strike.

"The troops have been withdrawn from the Mahoning valley and elsewhere, and the relief sought as well as the question presented have become moot," he said.

"Due to the inevitable delay, continuances and dilatory tactics on behalf of the defendants, it appears impossible for the plaintiff to secure the immediate relief which it deemed necessary at the time of filing the action."

Charles Druggan, representing Gov. Davey, objected to the motion, and Judge Underwood agreed to hear his arguments immediately.

JURY OUT 17 MINUTES TO REACH DECISION

Verdict Returned Despite Judge's Ruling That Game Is Lottery.

LEGAL QUESTION RAISED

Theater Manager Takes Stand This Morning To Explain Operations.

A municipal court jury found George E. Planck, manager of the Palace theater, not guilty of establishing and operating a lottery or scheme of chance in the theater sweepstakes trial this afternoon.

The jury deliberated 17 minutes and returned its unanimous verdict of not guilty at 1:37 o'clock at the conclusion of the two-day trial which was believed to be the first test in Ohio of the legality of the theater sweepstakes or bank night games.

The jury returned its verdict after Municipal Judge William R. Martin, in his charge on the law applicable to the case, had said, "This court is charging you that under the laws of the state of Ohio, the sweepstakes night or bank night as operated according to the admissions of the defendant George E. Planck, is a lottery or a scheme of chance."

There was an immediate conflict of opinion following the conclusion of the trial over the relative significance of the jury's verdict and the judge's charge.

Question in Conflict

Some attorneys asserted the final decision of the whole sweepstakes question rested with the jury for a decision, and that the case is a clear-cut victory for Mr. Planck. In other quarters the judge's charge holding that the sweepstakes game is a lottery was regarded as having limited the jury to a decision of whether Mr. Planck or some other person was responsible for its operation in Marion. There was no immediate agreement as to whether the judge's charge to the jury or the jury's verdict determined the legality of the game.

If Judge Martin disposed of the question in his charge, the sweepstakes game is illegal.

If the jury's verdict, rather than the charge, was the determining authority, the game is legal.

Meanwhile, both sides were uncertain as to what will be the next step. Mr. Planck said he has not yet decided whether the sweepstakes game will be resumed as a weekly feature at the Palace. City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart likewise was uncertain as to whether he would carry the case to a higher court on error.

Final Testimony

In this morning's session of the two-day trial, the taking of testimony was completed and the trial was adjourned to this afternoon for arguments of attorneys and the judge's charge. When attorneys waived arguments, the judge proceeded to read his charge and jury deliberations were begun.

A highlight of the morning session came when George E. Planck, Palace theater manager, who is accused of operating a lottery or scheme of chance in the form of the sweepstakes, took the stand in his own defense.

As testimony was completed, some of the principal contentions of each side were:

NAZIS WATCH HITLER LAY A CORNERSTONE

Fuehrer Also Opens "Defense of Sports" Contest at Rally in Nurnberg.

By The Associated Press

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 9—Adolf Hitler rallied his uniformed legions today to watch him lay the cornerstone for a Nazi congress stadium and to open Nazi "defense of Sports" competitions.

All the regimented units of the new Germany—even 3,000 of the reichswehr—were represented at this point of the Nazi congress. Blackshirts, brownshirts, greenish brown, khaki, field grey and blue, were there.

A 12 gun salute boomed while Hitler symbolically sealed documents in the hollow cornerstone. He tapped the stone with a hammer then—but cautiously, for the last time he laid a cornerstone he banged so hard that he broke his hammer.

Again red fuehrer was without smiles. His stride was long and deliberate and his heels slapped hard on the plank walk laid across the field for his entry.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, declared that a new Europe is being formed "for which we will fight to the last breath" against communism.

Dr. Goebbels brought all his powers of invective into play—some of them against Americans and "deluded" democracies—a few hours after Germany had decided she could not sit down at a Mediterranean conference table with other powers so long as Soviet Russia, which has accused Fascist Italy of sinking her ships, would be there.

He warned Europe and the democracies that "Spain is the world's crossroads" and asked:

"What happens today in Spain may repeat itself tomorrow in any country!"

Then he screamed that the establishment of "a Communist power" in western Europe "cannot be tolerated."

"Some leading American democratic political personages," Goebbels shouted, sympathize with the Spanish government.

"If it is not scoundrelly and dispicable," he cried, "to travel with this terrible world danger, then it is a case of crass stupidity to which one might apply the Gospel prayer: —God, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

He spoke then of the democracies which, he said, persisted in "deluding themselves" that the Spanish insurgency was a bid for power by reactionary generals.

That idea, he said, is the "devilish" work of Moscow, and "nations which close their eyes to this menace will some day suffer a terrible awakening."

C.I.O. WANTS TO DROP OHIO TROOP SUIT

troops gradually were withdrawn from the industrial sections more than two months ago.

Druggan said the defense desired a judgment in the case to justify the action of the governor.

"Is that a matter that should be settled by the court or at the ballot box—whether he acted wisely or unwisely?" inquired Judge Underwood.

"If this suit is dismissed, it should be with prejudice to the plaintiffs," said Druggan, "and they should be compelled to pay the defendants' costs."

"What would be the object or purpose of continuing this case?" asked Underwood. "Would it be for vindication, and would it be inequitable to grant a dismissal?"

Demand Vindication

"Yes," responded the attorney, "because the complainants have deprived us of the right to have the case heard on its merits. We expect a decision of vindication."

"Is it the duty of the court to sit here day after day in order to vindicate the actions of some public officials?" countered the judge.

"We want a judgment on the merits of the case," insisted Druggan.

"You have not reached that point."

"We expect to reach it."

Druggan then continued his formal argument, with indications that a decision might be forthcoming shortly.

REBELS POUND FOES OUTSIDE OF GIJON

1,000 Killed in Sudden Counter-Attack by Loyalist Forces.

By The Associated Press

HENDAYE, France-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 9—Insurgent planes and guns pounded the remnants of government defenses in northwest Spain today after their troop advance on Gijon had been stalled and more than 1,000 of their men killed by a sudden counter-offensive.

Insurgent artillery bombarded the "Covadonga line," a network of fortifications hastily thrown up by the government's Asturian troops guarding a mountain crest near the coast.

Aerial attacks caused heavy damage in Gijon, last government-held stronghold on the Biscayan coast, about 30 miles from the vanguard of Gen. Francisco Franco's westward-driving coastal columns.

The situation within Gijon was described as "acute." Police fled into the mountains, leaving the city without protection from extremists and plunderers.

Dispatches from Madrid meanwhile said the defenders of that long-besieged Spanish city had struck against the insurgent lines west of Madrid, capturing positions near Valdemorillo that strengthened their grasp on territory recovered in the recent Brunete campaign.

The insurgents offered only slight opposition.

DRY SPELL REDUCES NATION'S CORN CROP

fects of the August drouth more than those in other states. There the crop was estimated to have deteriorated more than 100,000,000 bushels. Wet, cool weather since last Friday, T. A. Blair, government meteorologist said today, benefitted late corn. A harvest of around 75,000,000 bushels, less than half the amount farmers had expected, was estimated today.

Iowa was expected to regain its position as the principal corn producing state this year. It was only a runnerup to Illinois in 1936 when drouth and heat combined to burn up much of the Hawkeye state's crop. Despite damage caused by heat and smut, Iowa yield estimates were around 460,000,000 bushels, more than double the production of last year.

Illinois, with an estimated yield of close to 398,000,000 bushels, will rank second in production this year. The crop, however, suffered for want of moisture and examination of maturing ears show lack of uniform development. The Missouri crop also suffered severe damaged and is now estimated at approximately 155,000,000 bushels.

Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota had rainfall during the period when ears were filling and prospects in these states have improved in recent weeks. The Ohio crop suffered little, if any, in recent weeks and the crop was estimated at more than 185,000,000 bushels.

PROSPECTS FOR NEW RELIEF LAW ARE DIM

Doubtful Whether Extra Session Will Be Called Amid Debate Over Available Funds.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 9—Prospects for enactment of relief legislation at a special session became increasingly cloudy today through a disagreement over the amount of money available to finance aid to the subdivisions without imposition of any new taxes.

While an unofficial joint legislative committee went ahead preparing a $12,000,000 annual relief plan, there even was doubt that a special session would be called.

The call by Gov. Martin L. Davey was believed to depend on whether he could be assured of enactment of a program; success of a session hung on whether Lieut. Gov. Paul P. Yoder and his "no new taxes" bloc in the senate would agree to support any program drafted beforehand.

While the Ohio Chamber of Commerce economist, Dr. Arch D. Schultz, claimed that from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 would be available from the state's general funds this year for relief, the state finance department insisted that only a few hundred thousand dollars could be used.

Senate Leader Keith Lawrence told the joint committee that prospects "look gloomy" for state aid to subdivisions this year.

The Ohio League of Municipalities claimed that more than $4,000,000 would be needed for relief to next January and to pay deficits already incurred.

The committee program so far arranged includes reenactment of the one per cent utility excise tax and the beverage, malt and wort taxes against which bonds could be issued; reallocation of the three per cent admissions tax; an increase in relief allocations from the general sales tax; and authority for local subdivisions to pass relief bond issues by majority vote instead of the present 65 per cent requirement.

Another committee session will be held next Wednesday.

WPA PROJECT UP FOR DISCUSSION

Expansion of Sewing Center to Be Considered Tonight.

A conference of city, county and state WPA officials has been called for tonight in the county commissioners' office to discuss plans for increasing operations at the WPA sewing center in the county relief building on South Prospect street. Mayor Smith, Safety-Service Director John V. Ruth, acting City Clerk Walter Johnson, County Commissioners Leo Cusick, J. O. Weiss and O. C. McCurdy and at least two representatives of the state WPA office in Columbus are expected to attend.

The sewing center formerly employed in the neighborhood of 60 women when it was maintained by the county on North State street. Early last spring, however, the staff was reduced to 10 when the commissioners found themselves no longer able to provide funds for the sponsor's share of the project. Women laid off were given work in a project calling for the cleaning of public buildings and offices.

The meeting tonight will be to work out some method of joint sponsorship between city and county.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT IN SWEEPSTAKES CASE

sweepstakes game at any time without any charge. Registration, he explained, consisted of a person being given a card bearing the name of a horse and a series number. A stub signed by the person registered and also bearing the name of his horse and series number was retained by the theater and placed in a wire cylinder from which 20 horses were drawn weekly. The names of the horses then were placed on a blackboard on the theater stage and, through the showing of a race film, winners of first, second and third prizes were selected.

In line with his contention that a person, if fortunate, could receive a prize without ever purchasing a theater ticket, Mr. Planck said names of the winners each week were announced not only in the theater but were shouted by theater employes among the persons gathered around the front of the theater. Mr. Planck said if a person outside the theater heard his name announced as a winner, he could go to the stage and claim the prize without buying an admission ticket. The rules of the game required that a person whose name was drawn claim the prize at the stage within three minutes of the time the winners were announced, or that he be registered at the theater as having attended the afternoon performance that day. In the case of persons who left matinee attendance cards at the theater in the afternoon, the prizes were awarded without the requirements that the person attend the night drawing.

Called Good Will Method

Mr. Planck said the game was conducted here under a contract with Movie Sweepstakes, Inc., of New York City, as an advertising or promotional plan to develop good will.

As Mr. Strelitz sought to develop his contention that the game is entirely free, he asked Mr. Planck, "Do some people attend the theater on sweepstakes night without registering or becoming eligible for a prize?" Mr. Planck answered, "Yes."

Mr. Planck said he spoke to city officials—Mayor Smith and Chief Marks—about the game shortly after he started it. Objections of City Solicitor Carhart prevented him from telling the substance of those conversations. At the time of the raid, however, Mr. Planck asserted he had previously gone to the mayor and police chief and offered to discuss with them in detail any question they might have at any time about the legality of the game.

On cross examination, City Solicitor Carhart drew from Mr. Planck a statement in line with his contention that the game was played by a number of non-theatergoers purely as a lottery or game of chance. He asked Mr. Planck if he knew of any persons having gone to the theater in the afternoon of sweepstakes day, purchasing a ticket, signing a matinee attendance card making themselves eligible to share in the prizes that night, and leaving without seeing the show. Mr. Planck answered in the affirmative, adding that the theater urged such persons to come back in the evening to see the show. He said he knew of only about half a dozen persons who followed this procedure on Aug. 18, the day of the raid.

At another point in his testimony, Mr. Planck indicated the scope of the sweepstakes game, which has been in operation for 68 weeks, by testifying he had estimated recently that the names of 12,000 persons were on stubs in the wire cylinder from which stubs were drawn in the selection of prize winners.

Range of Prizes

In answer to the city solicitor's questions, Mr. Planck said the sweepstakes prizes had ranged as high as $475 for first prize, and that in recent months the first prize was never less than $200, although when the game was first begun here the first prize was $20.

The city solicitor asked when the theater had begun opening its ticket office at 11 a. m., on sweepstakes days, and Mr. Planck answered the time was in late June or early July.

"You moved up the time for starting ticket sales on sweepstakes day so persons who worked could sign matinee attendance cards during the noon hour, didn't you?" the city solicitor asked.

"No sir," Mr. Planck answered. "The time was moved up when the afternoon schedule was increased to three complete shows. This was because at the show starting at 1 o'clock had been heavily attended that some persons were obliged to stand to see the show."

"You spoke about tickets purchased in the afternoon but not used at that time being good for admission that night?" the solicitor reminded Mr. Planck. "Would those tickets entitle a person to admission on a later day?" Mr. Planck said the theater policy was to confine the use of a ticket to the day on which it was sold, but said the use of the ticket at a later date was discretionary with the manager.

Minors Barred

Before Mr. Planck left the stand, he was asked a further question by Mr. Strelitz about children participating in the game. Mr. Planck said children under 16 years of age were not permitted to play the game or share in the prizes, even if they purchased an adult admission ticket.

The only other witness who testified this morning was Kenneth D. Chaney, ticket taker at the theater, who was asked by Mr. Strelitz if he had been instructed to require a ticket of a person who wished to enter the theater for the sole purpose of claiming a prize after his name had been drawn. Mr. Chaney answered he would not require a ticket in such circumstances, but his answer was stricken from the record when the city solicitor objected.

At the conclusion of all testimony, the various exhibits, including equipment used in the operation of the sweepstakes, were admitted over objections of Mr. Planck's attorneys. Mr. Strelitz attempted to introduce portion of newspapers related to promotional prize-giving plans used by other lines of business, but these were barred.

Mr. Strelitz submitted several written requests to Judge Martin asking that certain statements be inserted in the judge's charge to the jury regarding the law applicable to the case. Three of the requests related to Mr. Strelitz's contention that the theater, in the event the game should be held illegal, might be regarded the victim of "discriminatory enforcement," arguing the theater apparently had been singled out from among a number of business places using promotional methods comparable to the sweepstakes game. Another request related to the defense contention that an important element of a lottery—the payment by the player of a price or consideration for the right to share in awards—was absent in the case. Judge Martin refused all of the requests.

First Defense Testimony

Yesterday's afternoon's session was marked by the completion of the state's testimony and the calling of the first defense witnesses. The state rested its case at 4 p. m.

After Police Chief Marks had finished as the first witness for the state Solicitor Carhart called Police Sergeant L. E. Reardon and Clyde Hardin and Patrolmen Fred Norton, John Underhill, Harry Smith and Louis Kirts to wind up his testimony. Gilmore Hiett, advertising manager of The Star, also was called but testified only briefly.

Defense testimony yesterday afternoon included examination of three witnesses, Miss Margaret Harlow, J. Aultman Raub and Carl Wiseman. Mr. Strelitz had called Dr. E. L. Brady, Edgar Barnhart and Dr. E. H. Morgan as character witnesses, but they were excused when the state admitted into the record that Mr. Planck enjoyed the reputation of being a good and law-abiding citizen.

The testimony of the police department members coincided with that of Chief Marks, given earlier in the afternoon. Each policeman told what part he played in the raid and preparations for it, and each told of going to the theater in the afternoon, before the raid purchasing a ticket, registering for the sweepstakes prize and leaving without seeing the show, with the exception of Sergeant Reardon who went at night and sat through the show. Reardon explained the procedure of drawing names of 20 horses from a wheel, placing them on the blackboard and of the selection and showing of the race film that determined the winners.

Patrolmen's Testimony

Patrolmen Norton, Underhill Smith and Kirts and Sergeant Hardin gave almost identical testimony about their registering in the afternoon and leaving the theater without seeing the show. Each testified he had to pass the ticket taker to get to the portion of the theater where sweepstakes registrations were made. On cross examination, the questions and answers of the men were substantially the same. Mr. Strelitz asked them if they noticed printed words on their sweepstakes tickets stating that the tickets were free and warning them not to pay anything for the tickets. He also asked them if their actions were in conformance with orders by Chief Marks, and the answers were in the affirmative. One of the few variations in testimony of the policemen was in that of Patrolman Underhill, who said he and Patrolman Norton left the theater from a balcony exit rather than through the front of the theater. When asked by Mr. Strelitz why they left by way of the balcony exit, Underhill said there was "no reason in particular."

Mr. Hiett was called by Mr. Carhart and asked if he and Mr. Planck had ever discussed running sweepstakes advertising in the newspaper. Mr. Hiett said, "I don't know that we did." He said the question of Mr. Planck getting permission to run such advertising in the newspaper had never come up. Mr. Hiett was the last witness called by the state.

Ticket Taker on Stand

Agreement of attorneys as to Mr. Planck's reputation for being a good and law-abiding citizen made it unnecessary for the defense to call the first three witnesses on its list, and Mr. Strelitz proceeded by calling Carl Wiseman of Middletown, a former ticket taker at the Palace theater. Mr. Wiseman testified he had instructions from Mr. Planck to permit any person around the front of the theater on sweepstakes nights to enter the theater without purchasing a ticket if his name were drawn and he wished to claim the prize in the event his name were drawn. Names of winners were regularly announced to the crowd outside the theater in sweepstakes nights, he said. His testimony, however, was stricken from the record of the case when City Solicitor Carhart brought out on examination that Wiseman left the theater about a month before the time the police raid was made.

Miss Harlow, a resident of Forest street and employed by the J. H. Maish advertising company, testified she won a $100 prize at the theater last February and claimed it by presenting an old admission ticket she had obtained on a previous occasion. She said she was in front of the theater at the time the drawing was made. When City Solicitor Carhart asked her if she attended sweepstakes programs regularly, she answered she went frequently "after that time" and had gone occasionally before.

Mr. Raub, secretary of the Marion county fair board, was asked by Mr. Strelitz if the fair board intended to give away two automobiles at the fair this year through drawing of tickets at the grounds. Mr. Raub said, "I refuse to answer."

"For what reason?" Mr. Strelitz asked.

"Because I might incriminate myself," Mr. Raub replied. After Mr. Raub said he intended to refuse to answer all questions pertaining to the drawing, Mr. Strelitz excused him. It was at this point that the afternoon session was concluded.

TREASURER AGAIN WARNS TAXPAYERS

Penalty for June Payments Goes On After Saturday, Cole Says.

County Treasurer Homer D. Cole reiterated today his warning to residents of the county who have failed to pay their June realty taxes that the deadline will fall Saturday at 4 p. m.

"There will positively be no taxes accepted after Saturday without penalty," he said.

Yesterday last-minute payments of $10,015.09 ran the total collected since June 1 to approximately $493,000 and there is a possibility the total may pass the half million dollar mark before the deadline, Mr. Cole estimated approximately $85,000 is still unpaid which should be paid this collection.

The charge to the treasurer from the auditor for the half-year collection is $472,250.38 for current taxes. The figure does not include delinquent taxes, penalties or interest.

The treasurer's office is open daily from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. with no lunch hour.

4,000 Japanese Reported Wiped Out

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, Sept. 9—A detachment of 4,000 Japanese troops was reported today to have been wiped out by a deadly Chinese ambush in the rocky hills west of here. The Japanese line was said to have been thrust back five miles by the sudden Chinese onslaught.

Japanese commanders were obviously more and more worried over the fate of their operations in this area, where their advance has been held up a full month by dogged Chinese resistance and astute strategy.

Heavy reinforcements were flowing through Peiping to Lianghsiang, 30 miles to the south, and to the sorely menaced Japanese right flank in the western hills around Mentoukuo, 25 miles to the west.

The steady stream of wounded Japanese coming back from the front was almost equally heavy. Several thousands have been brought here in the last few days and last night a trainload of wounded was evacuated to Tangku, the port of Tientsin, where they will be sent back to Japan. Most of the injured were lying flat on the floors of cattle cars.

Reliable Chinese reports from the Mentoukuo front, where the whole Japanese operation is threatened by a wide Chinese flank attack, said that the 4,000 Japanese were drawn into a trap by retreating Chinese.

The Japanese pursued the retreat far into the maze of hills where the Chinese have prepared almost impregnable positions. Then, from their lairs on the hill tops, the Chinese swarmed down, riddling the Japanese with machine gun fire and forcing them to retreat five miles to the east.

MANSFIELD AND GALION CARS CRASH

Two automobiles were damaged to the extent of $200 shortly before 9 o'clock last night when they collided on route 30-S at Iberia, according to a report of the state highway patrol here. The cars were driven by Nick Paulos, 49, of Mansfield and Raymond McDonald, 22, of near Galion. The accident occurred, patrolmen reported, when Paulos attempted to pass a truck driven by H. E. Shappel of Lima. The truck, however, was not struck.

Damage to each car amounted to $100, the left front wheel being torn from the Paulos car. No one was injured.

Recluse Quizzed After Sleeping a Year with Corpse

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—A 65-year old recluse who, police said, told them she had slept for nearly a year with the corpse of her husband was held for observation today in Bellevue hospital.

"I was waiting for him to get up," said Mrs. Emily Cudas. She refused to believe her husband Frank Cudas was dead.

Police found in her possession a death certificate dated Oct. 26 1936, and asked why she had not buried her husband.

"I was told that I could keep him for a year," she replied, "and it is not a year yet."

The body of Cudas was found on a bed in their tiny two-room apartment by Patrolman Edward Gebhner, after an investigator for the old age pension bureau was denied permission to see Cudas on the plea that he was "in a coma."

Later, still refusing to believe he had died, Mrs. Cudas said she thought he was suffering from sleeping sickness.

Cudas apparently had died after a hemorrhage.

Neighbors told police they often had heard the old woman carry on animated conversations, apparently with her husband. She admitted no one to the apartment.

Mrs. Cudas insisted on taking her purse with her to the hospital. It contained, police said, an uncashed $1,500 life insurance policy on her husband, a bank book showing deposits of $300 and $28 in cash.

SPANISH BLOCKADE NOT RECOGNIZED HERE

U. S. Ships Carrying Non-Contraband Goods Still Entering Iberian Ports.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—The department officials said today, the government has not altered its refusal to recognize a blockade of Spanish seaports.

Officials said they had reason to believe that American vessels carrying non-contraband cargoes had called at these ports and would continue to ply Spanish waters.

There should be no interpretation of a change in policy, they said, from the navy's warning to American mariners of private craft in the Mediterranean sea.

The warning, broadcast to every American vessel with radio receivers, said:

"American ships operating in the Mediterranean sea are warned that merchant vessels of various countries have recently been attacked in that sea by unidentified aircraft, surface vessels and submarines."

Secretary Hull, kept busy for weeks at the Sino-Japanese crisis, disclosed he also has been following closely the Spanish-Mediterranean situation.

He said he had discussed it with maritime commission officials and regarded it as a dangerous state of affairs rapidly growing more acute.

Secretary Roper, discussing the influence of war scares on business, said uneasiness so far has affected only speculative trade. He added that the actual condition of business throughout the country is good, and predicted there will be "a major upsurge in fall business."

U.S. Nazi Forces Seen Plotting To Stage Coup

Await Red Revolution To Seize Control of U. S. Government.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 9—The Daily Times said in a copyright article today that "in uniforms strangely suggestive of those worn by Adolf Hitler's Nazi storm troops, a relatively small but rapidly growing army is preparing for the American counterpart of 'der tag' when it plans to seize control of the United States."

The newspaper said the article resulted from an "exhaustive investigation of American Nazis" made by three reporters and investigators, James J. Metcalfe, his brother, and William A. Mueller. Mueller wrote the article.

The investigators, the newspaper said, "worked for many months both from within and outside the Amerikadeutscher Volksbund — German-American bund—and its companion organization, the Deutscher Volksbund" traveling from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, to "learn international secrets."

"Under the name of Oberwinder," the article continued, "the Metcalfe brothers months ago built themselves up as Nazi sympathizers and were accepted as members of the organizations.

John Metcalfe established himself in the predominantly German Yorkville section of New York City and later acted as a propagandist for the Amerikadeutscher Bund on a cross-country tour.

"A month later John Metcalfe became a storm trooper in New York. His brother, James, was accepted as a member of the alien army operated by the Deutscher Volksbund in Chicago.

"The Times investigators found the German brand of fascism spreading throughout the nation. Leaders of the movement say they will seize control of the United States, 'but not until the Communists' revolution starts.

"The organization is an integral part of the Hitler movement in Germany. Leaders are in frequent communication with Berlin. Every method of modern propaganda is used to win converts to the cause.

"Chief tenet of the German-American bund is an intense hatred of Jews and all things Jewish. Other anti-Semitic organizations are lining up with the bund in what leaders plan will be a general Fascist merger.

"The Amerikadeutscher Volksbund now has 60 odd orsigruppen or posts, scattered from coast to coast. Each group has a select organization of 'ordnungs dienst' commonly called O. D.'s. The avowed purpose of this uniformed force is to police bund gatherings but it is an exact replica of the Hitler storm troops."

M. club were hostesses last evening at the Center tearoom on South Main street. Miss Clark's wedding colors of peach and blue predominated in the decorative note and appointments were suggestive of her work as a nurse. A miniature hospital and attendants formed the centerpiece, and the favors were candy capsules and decorated thermometers. The table was lighted with tapers in peach and blue tones. Awards for high scores in bridge were won by Miss Pauline Thomas and Mrs. Grace Bleeman.

Miss Clark is the fiancee of Frank Walters of Columbus, and is making her home in Delaware where she is employed. The wedding will take place Sept. 19 in Central Christian church here.

MEMBERS of the Fortnightly Bridge club were guests when Mrs. Gladys Clark Arter and Mrs. R. E. Dover entertained with a dinner and miscellaneous shower last evening, complimenting Miss Margaret Minoughan, a bride-elect of Saturday. Mrs. Charles Stephenson of 412 Avondale avenue was surprised by a group of 45 relatives and friends Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent socially. The celebrant was remembered with a number of gifts. Refreshments were served by Miss Dorothy Stephenson, daughter of the celebrant, assisted by Mrs. Frank Conley and Mrs. D. F. McCloskey.

Mrs. Richards will entertain the club in two weeks at her home on North Seffner avenue.

Mrs. D. M. Hinamon was complimented with a surprise dinner yesterday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Brewer of the Upper Sandusky road. Brewer, Mrs. Helen Gulliford and daughter Clarisol, Mrs. Mary Alice McCurdy, the host and hostess and children Delmar, Mary Kathryn and Barbara.

Misses Frances and Georgia Kranz of the Claridon pike entertained the Unit Bridge-a-teers club Tuesday evening at their home, for the pleasure of Mrs. George Piedmore, a recent bride. WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile juice into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

The blow made Neill spin around helplessly.

"I've seen it."

"I buried it near there."

The man growled in pretended indifference: "Which direction?"

He's biting! Neill thought, and went on: "Stand with your back against the beacon and face the big locust that grows in the field. Take six full steps toward the tree, and dig in the sand. It's not buried deep. I didn't have time.

The man was silent, and Neill held himself tense for the outcome.

"All right," he said at last. "God help you if you're lying!"

Neill relaxed.

He pasted the tapes back on Neill's lips. They didn't stick so firmly this time. He then pulled himself up on deck and leaped to the shore. Neill heard his steps crunching away.

Neill, blind, speechless and bound, took stock of his situation. Unnoticed by his captor, the rope had stretched somewhat and his feet were now planted firmly on the ground. The strain had loosened the bonds on his wrists also.

He rubbed his mouth against his arm until he got rid of the loose tapes. His eyes were more firmly fastened shut, and he let them go for the present.

He maneuvered his hand until he got hold of the rope from above. It was a coarse hempen rope that afforded a good grip. With endless patient working, he drew himself up on it an inch at a time. The cross-beam was only a foot or so above his hands. He struck against it, and after several failures was able to hook his fingers over it and hang there.

He now caught the dangling rope between his upper arm and his teeth and, holding it there started gnawing. It seemed like a hopeless job. Minutes passed before he could feel even one fibre parting between his teeth. Meanwhile his strained fingers seemed to pass beyond his control. Momentarily, out of sheer exhaustion, they threatened to lose their hold on the cross-beam.

But life was sweet and Janet infinitely dear to him. The thought of her fate if anything happened to him kept his hands gripping the beam, kept his teeth grinding automatically. The rope fibers parted one by one. He lost all count of time. He was only a chewing mechanism.

The rope, he thought, was about half chewed through when he heard his captor coming back. There was a heavy slide down the bank and footsteps on the shingle. A sickening feeling of rage and frustration filled Neill. All his pains for nothing! He drew up his leg and let go the beam. The rope broke and he fell to the floor.

But he was still helpless. He tore the tapes off his eyes and pulled savagely with his teeth at the knots that bound his wrists. If he could only free himself, at he could put up a fight! Too late! The man was climbing aboard.

Rescued

The round eye of a flashlight blazed in the hatch overhead. It dazzled Neill and he could not see what was behind it. He struggled to throw himself out of reach of its rays, but could not.

"Good God! What happened?" said a husky, uncertain voice.

This was not what Neill had expected. For an instant he was filled with stupefaction, then a surge of joy. "Eyster!" he yelled.

"What shall I do?" the voice quavered.

"Come down here quick and untie me!" shouted Neill.

"I dassn't! I couldn't get out."

An ugly suspicion arrested Neill's joy. Was the man playing with him? Were the two in cahoots? "Let yourself drop," he commanded. "You can see that it's less than 10 feet. I'll boost you out when you untie me. Quick!"

Eyster finally lowered himself over the edge of the hatch and let go. Neil's spirits leaped up. He could have embraced the little man then.

Five minutes later the two of them dropped to the shingle. Eyster was shaking with nervousness. Neill turned to take a look at his prison. It was an old Chesapeake pungy which had been abandoned on the beach. The masts were out of her. She was a complete wreck.

Neill learns the name of the spy in room 18, tomorrow.

—The— Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

LOVE IN REVERSE

Judging from the front-page news, this must be the open season for shooting ex-wives. The season for shooting husbands is never closed.

One good woman with a reform spirit or a match-making complex can do more to wreck a lot of lives than a dozen less "worthy" women who mind their own business.

• • •

The only kind of woman that a man thinks he understands is the girl who treats him casually, gaily and lightly—just as most men treat women. His love will blossom like the rose under a girl's cool, sweet indifference—but it seems to shrivel right up under the actinic rays of warm response.

• • •

It is no trouble at all for a man to keep a woman guessing; the trouble is that she has such an embarrassing way of guessing right most of the time.

• • •

Don't forget that while the big thrill in a summer love-affair may be the nibble at the bait, the real test consists in landing your catch before the season closes.

• • •

Never judge a man's love by his pleasure in being near you—the only real proof is his inability to stay away from you.

• • •

Love can never be defined because it is never the same thing in two people. What is love to a callow youth would seem like farce-comedy to a seasoned Lothario; and what is love to a poet would seem like paranoi to a hard-boiled business man.

• • •

Love is the sweet hallucination that the man of the moment is going to be the man of your life.

• • •

Men know what they like in women. They do not care for holocausts of temperament, but neither do they care for human icebergs. They tire of clinging dumbells and flee from predatory Amazons. I guess they just want women to be women.

REV. J. W. SCHILLINGER HEADS OHIO LUTHERANS

Succeeds Dr. Em. Poppen of Columbus Who Becomes U. S. Church Leader.

Rev James W Schillinger, pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church on South Prospect street for the last 28 years, this afternoon was elected to a four-year term as president of the Ohio district of the American Lutheran church, at the annual session of the district in Greenville, O.

He was elected to succeed Dr. Em. Poppen of Columbus, who resigned the position to become president of the American Lutheran church. He was one of two candidates for the post, the other being Rev A. E Linder who holds a part-time pastorate in southern Ohio.

The position carries a salary of $3,500 a year. Election of a president was the most important business before approximately 250 lay delegates and ministers registered at the convention.

Word of his election came by telephone from the Emanuel church delegate, H L Albrecht. Mr Albrecht received the election results before they were announced to the convention and before Rev Schillinger had been officially notified of the honor accorded him.

To carry on the duties of his office it will be necessary for Rev. Schillinger to leave Marion and move to Columbus. When he will leave will be determined by when the Emanuel congregation releases him, Mr Albrecht said. Probably a pulpit committee will be appointed to fill the vacancy, even though Rev. Schillinger may have a recommendation as to his successor, in which event his recommendation is expected to be considered attentively by the congregation.

Rev Schillinger's election comes at beginning of his twenty-ninth year as pastor of the Emanuel church. In years of service he is Marion's oldest resident minister. He was installed pastor of the Emanuel church on Sept 1, 1909.

The present Emanuel church edifice, considered one of the finest types of pure Gothic architecture in Marion, was built during his pastorate. It was dedicated on Sept 8, 1918, a week more than nine years after Rev Schillinger became pastor.

Rev. Schillinger came to Marion from Sandusky where he had held the second pastorate of his ministerial career. He was graduated from the New Washington, O., High school in 1897, from Capital university in Columbus in 1901, and from the Lutheran seminary in Columbus in 1904. That same year he began his ministry in Willard. After three years there he was sent to Sandusky and after two years there came to Marion. He was ordained at Willard on May 25, 1904.

Among positions which Rev Schillinger has held in Lutheran circles in Ohio are the presidency of the Eastern conference of the Northern District and memberships on the board of foreign missions for the synod, and the home missions board.

Rev. and Mrs. Schillinger live at 243 South Prospect street. They have one son, Stanley Schillinger of Marysville.

HE GOT HIS GOAT, EVEN TWO OF THEM

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Sept. 9—George Schlegel, custodian of the court house here is now the owner of two goats "on pasture" on the courthouse lawn. It all came about in the following way.

George was visiting the horse barns at the fairgrounds on Labor day admiring a white goat owned by Sheriff Chester (Chuck) Bewley of Logan county. Sheriff Bewley was at the fairgrounds preparing to ship his race horses, which had been in training at the local track, to Van Wert. The goat was a mascot.

George told Sheriff Bewley that he thought it a fine looking goat and that he would like to have one like it. He thought nothing more of the incident. Early Wednesday morning a truck stopped at the court house building and unloaded two Toggenberg goats. After tying the goats to a tree the truck driver departed. When George went to the goats he found a note attached to one of them stating that the animals were a gift to him from Sheriff Bewley.

Marion Meets Findlay Today To Open Playoff Series

Dean Retirement Talked; Indians in Fourth Place

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals looked very much today as if they were sharpening up a knife for the purpose of cutting off their collective nose to spite their equally collective face.

If they were really serious about suggesting a year's retirement for Dizzy Dean, and were not just talking to throw a scare into baseball's No. 1 blower-offer, it would seem they'd be doing themselves more harm than good by shelving the greatest pitching arm in the league for that length of time, despite his eccentricities.

The row started by Branch Rickey with the retirement suggestion, and followed up by Dean's plaintive plea for permission to trade himself, took the stage away from anything in the big time today. Playing second fiddle to the Rickey-Dean grazes were such other developments as the reappointment of "Rolling Rolly" Grimes as chief umpire baiter and manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers; the continuation of the Giants' 2½ game lead in the National League race; and the rise of Pittsburgh to third place in the National League and Cleveland to fourth in the American.

The Cards may have their reasons for talking about packing Dizzy's arm in mothballs for a year. These would include, of course, the fact that such a move would, as Rickey described it, "act as a tonic and build up his baseball morale as well as his arm."

Diz certainly didn't look ready for a wheelchair yesterday as he pitched a five-hitter against the Cubs. Although he lost, 4-0, a five-hitter isn't exactly getting your ears pinned back.

The victory for the Cubs enabled them to stay within shouting distance of the Giants, who had their hands full before pulling out a 9-7 decision over their best-loved "haters," the Dodgers. A short while later, the Brooklyn management announced the signing of Grimes at a reported substantial salary increase.

The Yanks pulled two games out of the fire against the Red Sox, 3-2, 9-8.

The Tigers managed only an even break with the Indians, taking the nightcap, 10-5, after dropping the curtain raiser, 6-1. The Pirates pounded the Reds 7-6 in ten frames and 8-2 in nine.

Four well-pitched games found the Phillies splitting with the Bees and the Athletics doing the same with the Senators. The Phils won 6-3 and lost 1-0. The A's won 2-0 and then went down 1-0. The White Sox socked the Browns, 10-1.

SCHMIDT SEARCHING FOR O. S. U. HALFBACK

Key Position on Team Vacant With Opening Game Only Two Weeks Away.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 9—At the close of spring football practice, Coach Francis A. Schmidt of Ohio State university thought he had five stalwarts to fill the left halfback post—key position in the ballototing department under his style of play.

Today, with but two weeks in which to prepare for an invasion by Texas Christian's Horned Toads in the opener Sept. 25, the husky Buckeye mentor hoped he might find one—only one—good left half among the 55 candidates invited out for opening practice tomorrow.

Of the phantom five on whom Coach Schmidt was depending, Joe Williams, threat carrier of the mail for the past two years, dropped out of the eligibility list because of scholastic difficulties.

Then Bill Booth of East Liverpool, scheduled to step into the first-string job this season, was killed Saturday in an automobile accident. Yesterday Jim Strasbaugh, Chillicothe sophomore who led Ohio's scholastic scorers two years ago, cropped out with the same trouble Williams had. He failed to hurdle a few summer school requirements.

That leaves only Jim Miller of Shelby and Bob Moloney of Columbus to fit into the all-important berth—and right now the berth looks a bit too big for a comfortable fit.

"It looked as if we were pretty well set, except for a bit of fixing here and there," said Schmidt, "but now we'll have to start all over again in building a backfield.

"I don't know just what the changes will be until we get out there on the field and get a chance to watch some of the boys perform."

FIVE PLAYERS SOLD BY MID-ATLANTIC

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 9 — President "Buzz" Weisel of the Springfield Mid-Atlantic league club announced today sale of two players to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and three to New Orleans for undisclosed sums. First Baseman Walter Walsh, 22, hitting .329 with 33 homers, and outfielder William Fuchs, 20, hitting .303 with 24 homers, went to the New York-Penn league team. Shortstop Frank Scalzi, 22, batting .389 with 33 home runs; Pitcher Mike Polagyi, 21, with 18 wins in 26 starts, and Catcher Gus Hixson, also 21, batting .296 with eight homers, were sent to the Southern Association club.

FOUR TOP TEAMS IN OHIO STATE LEAGUE BIDDING FOR TROPHY

Place of Future Contests in Series Depends on Outcome Today.

Marion's second place Ohio State league baseball team will meet the Findlay Browns at Lincoln park here today at 5 o'clock in the first game of a playoff series between clubs winning the first four places in the Ohio State league.

Manager Chappie Geygan has announced that he will pitch Gordon Mann, tall righthander, who has been the ace of the local hitting corps throughout the season. Mann was recently selected by sport scribes througout the league as the best right handed pitcher. Tomorrow, at Findlay, Geygan will start Lefty Spence, who showed good form here in his Labor Day appearance.

Due to an agreement between managers, the Mansfield Red Sox, if they succeed in winning their current series will be granted the privilege of having the first two games of the scheduled "three victories to win" series played at Mansfield. This agreement was reached when the club managers met Tuesday, due to the Richland County Fair which begins next week.

If Marion is successful in winning its first two games with Findlay, the final playoff series will begin Saturday at either Mansfield or Tiffin. However, if Marion is not successful and loses one of the games, an agreement between managers will have to be reached as to where the final game will be played. If Marion drops both games, there will be no more baseball in Marion this season as the losing teams do not play to determine the winner of third place.

The beautiful gold trophy which is to be given to the winner of the playoff series has been donated by the mayors in whose cities Ohio State League baseball has been played this season. Those who donated are Dr. Frederick C. Smith, Earl L. McFarland of Mansfield, Edward J. Franks of Fremont, Frank P. Culp of Fostoria, Homer O. Dorsey of Findlay and Charles S. Yingling of Tiffin.

Manager Chappie Geygan is being heralded throughout the league as the champion hard luck manager. Last year, while at Sandusky, his team finished just a game behind the Tiffin Mud Hens in the second half race. Again this year, although the team won two more games than the champion Mansfield Red Sox, it finished two games out of first place.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

JOHNNY ALLEN, Indians and GEORGE COFFMAN and HANK GREENBERG, Tigers — Allen pitched seven-hitter, fanning six, for 6-1 opener victory; Coffman allowed one hit in four-inning relief trick in nightcap as Greenberg's two homers led to 10-5 victory.

WOODY JENSEN and JIM TOBIN, Pirates—Jensen hit four-for-five, driving in one run, in 7-6 opener over Reds; Tobin's four-hit, four-strikeout pitching took nightcap, 8-2.

VERNON KENNEDY, White Sox—Stopped Browns 10-1 with six hits.

HERSHEL MARTIN, Phillies, and MILT SHOFFNER and ROY JOHNSON, Bees—Martin hit three singles, drove in one run in opener win; Shoffner pitched three-hitter as Johnson drove in only run in 1-0 nightcap victory.

EARLE BRUCKER, Athletics, and PETE APPLETON and FRED SINGLETON, Senators—Brucker drove in all runs for 3-0 opener win; Appleton pitched four-hitter and Singleton's single sent only run across in 1-0 nightcap.

LARRY FRENCH and GABBY HARTNETT, Cubs—French fanned 10, allowed five hits as Hartnett hit homer, double, driving in three runs in 4-0 win over Cardinals.

MYRIL HOAG and LOU GEHRIG, Yankees—Hoag's ninth inning single drove in winning run for 3-2 opener victory over Red Sox; Gehrig hit homer in ninth with two on to break up nightcap for 5-4 win.

JOHNNY McCARTHY, Giants—Hit homer and drove in four runs for 9-4 win over Dodgers.

New Golden Era in Sports

WHEN the depression ended the fabulous decade of the Magical Twenties, sports fans sighed in regretful reminiscence. Never again, they said, would there be such a parade of super sport stars. The twenties were surely the golden era of sport.

Dempsey, Ruth, Jones, Hagen, Tilden, Grange, Weismuller, Hitchcock, Man O' War—what an array of sport immortals! Never would their like be seen again.

However, the past couple of years have witnessed the rise of a new group of sport idols, who seem likely to go down in history along with the aforementioned group of super stars.

In baseball, Joe Di Maggio is heralded as another Ruth, while Carl Hubbell is compared with Johnson and Matty. The fight game has a box office magnet who compares favorably with Dempsey in the colorful Brown Bomber, Joe Louis.

Tennis puts forward the flashing Donald Budge, already being called by some the greatest of all time. In yachting the all-conquering ranger takes a place alongside the all-time sport champions.

Jesse Owens' track and field feats have been unparalleled since Jim Thorpe's day. The turf's War Admiral is compared with his immortal daddy, Man O' War.

Dizzy Decides To Quit After Hearing Rickey

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9 — Branch Rickey started it—now Jerome Herman Dean wants to finish it.

And when the dizzy one says finish, he refers to his connection with Messrs. Breadon and Rickey's gas house gang.

A suggestion here last night by the Cardinals' general manager that old Diz take a year off "as a tonic" and "build up his baseball morale" temporarily nonplussed Dean when he heard about it in Chicago.

"If that's the way they feel about me it would be better if they let me go," he countered. "I think three or four clubs could use me.

"I may not be doing as good now but I'll be O. K. by next season and I can't see any reason for layin' off a year."

Rickey said he made the suggestion in view of the big righthander's record for the season. Diz dropped No. 10 to the Cubs yesterday after a lay-off since August 27 because of his ailing flipper. He has won 13 games.

Diz was more voluble than his boss but showed unusual restraint in commenting on Rickey's opinion that voluntary retirement would be "the best thing that could happen to Dizzy."

Rickey added "he's not in the market; there's no market for him."

"All the time for the last seven years when I was winning games and winning world's series I was a great guy and everything was okey doke. Now, when I ain't goin' so good, everything's wrong with me."

Dean blamed his poor record recently on that left big toe broken in the all-star game. He described his 1 to 0 victory at Cincinnati July 4 as "one of the best games I ever pitched," adding "I was on the way to my best season."

"Two days later my left toe was broke. Ten days later I was requested to report to the club at Boston, which I did.

"Frisch (manager Frank Frisch) asked me if I could pitch when I showed up. I did.

"I gave him a pretty good game but lost 2 to 1. The toe was not healed and I couldn't pivot for my follow through and I hurt my arm favoring my toe."

Concerning his 4 to 0 loss to the Cubs yesterday, Dizzy said he "never should have been in there," though Rickey credited him with "a good game."

COLONEL VICTORIES WEAKEN RED BIRDS' GRIP ON LOOP LEAD

Toledo Forges Ahead of Minneapolis in Race for Second Position.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 — Toledo's Mud Hens had a one-game edge over Minneapolis today in their battle over the American Association's $2,000 second-place pot, and Milwaukee had clinched the fourth place in the playoff series.

The Mud Hens went back into second place last night by winning both games of a doubleheader from Indianapolis — while the Millers were serving as stooges for Milwaukee's playoff assignment clinching act. All that remains to be settled now was where the two opening installments of the playoff series will start, there still being chances that the first place

GRID PROFESSIONALS BEAT COLLEGIATES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—Thanks to the New York Giants' 14 to 7 victory over the eastern all-star college eleven, professional football today had regained some of the prestige lost in recent encounters with star-studded college outfits.

The Giants made it two in a row over the collegians in a game played at the Polo grounds last night for the benefit of the Herald-Tribune fresh air fund, but had several uncomfortable moments.

According to a Smithsonian Institution scientist the United States will not suffer from a series of drouth years again until 1975.

COLONEL VICTORIES WEAKEN RED BIRDS

Columbus Red Birds, Toledo and Minneapolis might be shuffled around some more by the time the regular season closes Sunday.

Toledo backed up a fair job of pitching by Clyde Hatter with a 12 hit assault to take the first game from the Indians, 13 to 4, and won the second one, 4 to 3. Bill Zuber held Minneapolis' sluggers as Milwaukee won a 3 to 2 decision in the opener, and bunched five hits with a pair of errors and three walks by Baker, to win the seven inning second game, 5 to 0.

Louisville's Colonels damaged Columbus' hold on first place by downing the Red Birds in both ends of another night doubleheader. In the opener southpaw Harry Eisenstat outlasted Bill McGee and Max Macon in a 14-inning duel to win, 2 to 1. Five Columbus errors helped Louisville to a 5 to 3 decision in the second game which was limited to seven innings.

The defeats left Columbus with a three-game lead over Toledo.

St. Paul scored five runs in the ninth inning to defeat Kansas City, 6 to 3.

SEWERS A PROBLEM AT UPPER SANDUSKY

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 9—A new problem was presented the council here Tuesday evening when eight local business men and building owners presented complaints that water has been backing into basements during recent heavy rains. The council found it has no funds on hands to install the needed new sanitary sewer, which would cost possibly $5,000, while the present outlets are too small to carry off the sudden heavy overflows. Because of previous arrangements, any new sewers installed must conform with plans now made for the setting up of a sewerage disposal plant here sometime in the future. RECORD OF FIRST DAY'S TESTIMONY IN SWEEPSTAKES TRIAL

Virtually a complete record of testimony given in yesterday's opening sessions of the Palace theater sweepstakes trial in municipal court is given here.

Chief of Police Marks, first witness for the state, was asked by City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart to tell in detail the manner in which the sweepstakes night was run at the Palace theater on the night of Aug. 18. Defense Attorney J Malcolm Strelitz objected and Municipal Judge William R. Martin ruled that Chief Marks could testify as to what he knew and saw of the proceedings.

Chief Marks began as follows: "Sweepstakes was run on Wednesday of each week at the Palace theater. It had been for some time. It consisted of a ticket for the sweepstakes and could be eligible .."

A this point Attorney Strelitz objected and Judge Martin repeated that the chief could testify only to waht he know or saw. Solicitor Carhart then proceeded with introducing the state's exhibits:

Carhart: "Plaintiff's exhibit No 1. I will ask you to identify it." Marks: "This is a picture of a bill board just beyond where the diner is on West Center street." He added that it advertised the Palace program for Aug. 18.

Q—"The day on which the sweepstakes was run?" A—Yes."

Q—"Exhibit No. 2. I will ask you to identify it." A—"This is a picture of the front of the Palace theater."

Strelitz asked: "Did you take the picture?" A—"Yes"

Carhart: "When was it taken?" A—"It was taken the morning of Aug. 18."

Marks continued to identify photographs as follows: Exhibit 3—"The front of the Palace theater from an easterly direction"; Exhibit 4—"A picture of a bill board, taken the same day at the alley at Henney & Cooper's on the east side of the alley."

Carhart's introduction of Exhibit 5 was objected to by Attorney Strelitz "on the grounds that the search warrant upon which it was seized was invalidly issued and the action of Chief Marks in seizing the property thereto not in authority with the law." He was overruled and Exhibit 5 was identified by Chief Marks as "The sweepstakes racing board found on the stage of the Palace theater the night of Aug. 18."

Carhart: "In whose custody has it been since that time?" A—"Mine."

Q—"Ever since that time?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Until it was brought into the courtroom a few minutes ago?" A—"Yes."

Strelitz objected to introducing Exhibit 6, a large silk banner, property of the theater, was overruled and Marks made the identification as follows: "It was at the Palace theater on Aug. 18 It was placed on the theater marquee on the side at the end of the theater."

Carhart: "Was there another on the other end?" A—"Yes, there were two."

The chief identified Exhibit 7 as "A box which has been in my possession since Aug. 18 when it was seized at the Palace theater, filled with sweepstakes tickets."

Carhart: "Where are the tickets which were in the cylinder?" A—"In my office."

ALL TICKETS SORTED CAREFULLY, CHIEF SAYS

Q—"What has been done with them?" A—"They have been sorted."

Q—"In what manner?" A—"As to series and alphabetically."

Q—"All the tickets have been sorted in that manner?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Exhibit No. 8. Will you please identify it?" A—"This is the race film that was run the night of Aug. 18 at the Palace theater sweepstakes."

Q—"In whose custody has it been?" A—"In my custody."

The chief continued to identify exhibits Nos. 9, 10 and 11, as sweepstakes film taken from the Palace the night of Aug. 18, but not used on that night.

Q—Referring to exhibits Nos. 8 9, 10 and 11: "For what purpose were they used in connection with the sweepstakes at the Palace theater on Aug. 18?" "To determine which three of the 20 horses won first, second and third prizes in the sweepstakes."

Q—"What if anything else was obtained from the Palace theater on the night of Aug. 18?" A—Pointing to exhibit No. 12: "Those advertising banners which were pasted on the bill boards."

In response to Carhart's question concerning exhibit No. 13, Marks said: "Those tickets were obtained at the office of Mr. Planck on the night of Aug. 18. These are the sweepstakes tickets before the customer's stub is detached."

Responding to the solicitor's query as to what further was obtained, Marks identified exhibit No. 14 as "The customer's sweepstakes ticket from Mr. Underhill received at 3:25 p. m. on Aug. 18 from Ione Srieves."

Carhart: "What is the name of the horse on the ticket?" A—"Tariff, series 4."

The chief identified exhibit No 15. "A ticket that is given a customer in case he loses the original one." He said it carried the name Fred Norton.

Carhart: "What is the name of the horse?" A—"Carol, Series 3."

Exhibit No. 16 was identified by the chief as follows: "This is a registration ticket for the sweepstakes, the original is not at hand The horse's name is Skidoo, it was issued to Louis Kirts at 3:05 p. m. on Aug. 18." Exhibit No. 17 he identified as "A sweepstakes ticket for the horse Tanner, Series 4 purchased by Officer Smith at 3:05 p. m. on Aug. 18." Exhibit No. 18 was identified by the chief as "Supero is the horse's name The ticket was purchased by Hardin at 2:35 p. m. at the Palace theater, sweepstakes day, Aug 18."

Carhart produced exhibit No 19 which the chief identified as "The ticket that is signed in the files A registration ticket for a horse named Skidoo, with the name Kirts.

Carhart: "Where was it obtained?" A—"It was on file on the stage at the time we seized the property."

Marks continued, identifying Exhibit No 20 as "The registration ticket for Carol, with the name Fred Norton.

Carhart: "It was obtained where?" A—"From the file."

The chief identified additional tickets Exhibits No. 21, 22 and 23, as issued to Harry L. Smith Clyde H Hardin, and J S Underhill, respectively, and as having been taken from the file

In response to Carhart's presenting of Exhibit No 24, the chief said: "This is the file used in the sweepstakes to file the cards of those who register and do not attend."

Carhart: "When was it obtained?" A—"It was obtained the night of Aug. 18 at the close of the drawing."

Q—"Where has it been since then?" A—"In my custody."

Q—"Have any tickets been taken out? Were any registration slips removed?" A—"Those five."

Q—"The rest are intact?" A—"Yes"

Q—"On Wednesday, Aug. 18 what was your observation with reference to the sweepstakes about 9 p. m"? A—"The usual Wednesday night crowd was about outside the theater, parking in the street. The street was more or less congested at the time we made the trip."

Q—"Tell the jury exactly what was the effect on the use of the sidewalks and streets."

DEFENSE COUNSEL OPENS CROSS EXAMINATION

Strelitz objected on the grounds that the case in question was not a traffic case. He took up the questioning of Chief Marks at this point and opened with: "Chief, you went to the Palace theater at what time the night of Aug. 18?" A—"About 10 minutes to 9"

Q—"And prior to that time you had signed an affidavit for a search warrant in this court?". A—"Yes."

Q—"Do you have the original affidavit here?" It was given to him and he asked the chief: "At what time did you sign that affidavit?" A—"Around about noon."

Carhart objected to testimony in relation to the signing of the affidavit and the court ruled that any testimony tending to put a question on matters preceding issuing of the search warrant were not facts for the jury. Questioning regarding the affidavit and search warrant continued, objections were interposed and the jury was sent out in custody of the bailiff. The court ruled that any evidence obtained under the search warrant was admissable, adding, "Furthermore this court does not believe at anytime that a search warrant in this particular instance was necessary."

Before the jury was returned, Strelitz asked: "The exhibits No. 1 to 24 were seized by you at the Palace theater on the night of Aug 18, by you and your men?" The chief answered in the affirmative and Strelitz asked: "They were seized pursuant to the warrant which you now have in your hand?" An objection by Solicitor Carhart was sustained and Mr. Strelitz continued:

"Looking at that warrant which you had with you, will you state whether or not it was signed by the clerk of the municipal court?" An objection was sustained and he questioned further: "Did you make a raid on that warrant?" A—"Yes."

Q—"And does it cover all of the property that you seized?" A—"Yes."

Mr. Strelitz referred to a bag of money, and before questioning was continued the jury was returned.

Q—"Chief, who went over to the Palace theater with you on the night of Aug. 18?" A—"During the course of the evening?" Strelitz: "At the time you made the arrests."

Strelitz questioned the chief at length regarding who accompanied him and was told the men were Patrolmen Underhill, Smith, Hardin, Kirts, Andrews and Yoakam, Sergeant Reardon and Captain Mackan.

Q—"Is that all?" A—"Except those working on the street and in front." He identified those working in front of the theater as Cunningham and Coffey.

Q—"What time did the first men go over?" A—"Two went at 7."

Q—"What time did you stage this raid?" Solicitor Carhart's objection to questioning regarding the raid was overruled and the chief replied: "It was supposed to occur at the time the drawing was completed."

Q—"What time was that?" A—"That varies. This night it was about 10 after 9."

Q—"Was anybody else there assisting you?" A—"No."

Q—"Solicitor Carhart?" A—"No."

Q—"Any stenographers?" A—"No."

Q—"When did you return?" A—"I went in at approximately the time of the close of the drawing and stayed there until somewhere around 10 after 9." The chief repeated that he was out of the theater at 9:10, and Mr. Strelitz asked him what equipment was on the stage. A—"A file box, wire cage containing the tickets, the scoreboard and three films—and I think that was about all."

Q—"Was it all there in plain view?" A—"I think you could call it plain view"

Q—"Was anything concealed?" A—"No. I think not."

ENTIRE FORCE ON JOB, CHIEF STATES

Q—"How many men did you have working on the force that night?" A—"Approximately everybody that was working" He continued, saying that Cunningham and Coffey were on the street in front and the sergeant was on the desk. He explained that the two on the street were subject to call wherever wanted and that Cunningham had a motorcycle.

Q—"Was that all the police force away from the scene of the raid?" A—"One was on vacation"

Q—"There were only two others working besides those you named' What others were on duty?" A—"There were 16 of us."

Q—"Sixteen. Who were the two uptown? Who were the other two or three?" Chief marks explained that Hardin was on the desk and that Powell was on vacation

Q—"Who were on duty in addition to the 11?" A—"The regular crew was on duty" He named Tong and Osmun were on duty uptown"

Questioning regarding the number of men on duty, and where they were continued and Chief Marks said that nobody except the two uptown and the man on the desk were on duty during the time of the raid

Q—"Now, some money was seized?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Is that here?" A—"In the safe"

Q—"Supose you bring it in." The chief left and returned in a few minutes with a money bag.

Q—"In addition to those things you identified as having been taken by you and your men, the bag you just brought in was taken?" A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"Was it at the theater?" A—"Yes"

Q—"What does it contain?" A—"Money."

Q—"Do you know how much?" A—"No."

Q—"Have you counted it?" A—"No"

Q—"Or your men?" A—"No."

Q—"Where did you find it?" A—"In the boxoffice"

Q—"You made no inquiry as to where it came from? It was all the money that was there?" A—"I think so" The chief said he had sealed the bag in Mr. Strelitz's presence and he did not know how much was in it."

Q"Did you return any of the money?" A—"Yes. Thirty dollars to you that was supposed to be petty cash and resealed the bag in your presence."

Q—"Did you return any films?" A—"Yes. One box was returned."

The chief went on, in response to questioning, to explain that all the money was taken from the outside cashier's box.

Q—"You also took Mr. Planck back with you?" A—"Yes."

Q—"And what about the young ladies?" A—"We brought them over for investigation on their part of selling tickets and registering."

Q—"At that time there was no affidavit of the offense?" A—"No."

Q—"It was filed the next day?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Did you make any inquiry prior to the time of staging the raid as to whom among the police force participated in the sweepstakes night?" A—"No, I had not."

An objection by Solicitor Carhart was overruled and Mr. Strelitz continued. "Was any one in your family participating in the sweepstakes night?" A—"Not that I know of."

Q"Do you have a daughter named Rhea?" A—"Yes."

Q—"She lives at 380 Wood street?" A—"She has lived in Toledo about a year."

Q—"Did you know she was registered?" A—"No"

Q—"Did you ever hear her speak of a horse named 'Quick Sal'?" A—"No, sir."

Q—"When did you first start your investigation whether this wasn't lawful?" A—"Some time ago"

Q—"Did you inquire of your officers where they participated in it?" A—"I had not"

Q—"Is Underhill's home on East Fairground street" A—"Yes."

Q—"Norton lives at 1138 East Church street?" A—"He did."

Q—"Did you know he had a ticket?" A—"No."

SAYS TWO MEMBERS OF FORCE HAD TICKETS

Q—"Did you know that the officers you sent over, or that their families had tickets?" A—"I think only two."

Q—"Which two?" A—"Norton and Kurts."

Q—"When did you find out?" A—"Afterwards."

Q—"You made no inquiry before?" A—"No."

Q—"Do you know how long it had been run?" A—"Better than a year."

Q—"You saw it every Wednesday night for 68 weeks and during those weeks and preceding Aug. 18 you had made no previous investigation?" A—"Yes, I had been investigating to know whether it was gambling, particularly since registering in the afternoon began."

In response to the query as to why he took 11 men with him, the chief said that the structure of the building is odd and he "didn't know what would arise."

Q—"Were you familiar with the fact that Planck had sent word when he started that he would be glad to test the legality at any time? That was told to you wasn't it, chief?" A—"I couldn't say.

The chief replied with an emphatic "No!" when asked whether he was apprehensive of any resistance on the part of Mr. Planck or the young ladies.

Q—"Of course you are familiar that in recent years these promotions whereby prizes are distributed are general?"

At this point Strelitz went into extensive questioning regarding various promotional enterprizes, both local and national, in which awards are offered, calling the chief's attention to each, and questioning him regarding whether he had made an investigation. The court, in sustaining Solicitor Carhart's repeated objections, said "What might happen to others before or after is no concern of this court and of this jury."

Strelitz contended he had a right "to inquire into conditions which exist in Marion with regard to this kind of promotional advertising" and "to know why 11 men went to jump on one individual"

Strelitz questioned the chief about the coming county fair and some of its advertising over repeated objections which were sustained.

Returning to the Palace theater raid Strelitz asked Marks [illegible] about the time he sent the [illegible]. The chief replied that it was around 9:10 p. m., that he had been back and forth across the street, and that the drawing had been "just about" completed.

Q—"Did you see the film run?" A—"Personally, I didn't see it."

Q—"How long after you were in did you take the police in?" A—"As the results were announced on the board. The film must have been run, but I didn't see it run. In response to further questioning, he repeated that they were naming the winners when he arrived

Q—"And you immediately took the paraphernalia, Mr. Planck and the girls?" A—"Yes"

Q—"And you didn't go back?" A—"Yes"

Q—"How long?" A—"A number of times."

Q—"What were you doing?" A—"Checking on what we might have missed in the way of evidence."

Q—"How often did you go back?" A—"Three times, I think."

Q—"You kept your men there while you were gone?" A—"Yes, sir, someone was there."

Here Solicitor Carhart questioned the chief "Was any money taken from Mr. Planck's office?" A—"Not that I know of."

Q—"All the money was taken from the girls at the boxoffice?" A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"You released $30 which was reported as petty cash?" A—"Yes."

Q—"The bag was sealed in the presence of Mr. Strelitz and has remained in your possession ever since?" A—"Yes, sir."

SERGEANT REARDON TELLS ABOUT RAID

Sergeant Reardon was called and after identifying himself, was questioned as follows by Mr. Carhart. "Did you attend the show at the Palace theater the night of Aug 18?" A—"I did."

Sergeant Reardon began his account as follows: "About 7 o'clock I purchased a ticket and entered the Palace and sat on the west side of the house near the exit door. The show picture was shown. At 8:55 the drawing commenced. It took approximately 10 minutes The board was placed on the theater stage and the numbers cage, about half-full of number cards was set on a stand. A young lady was at the stand, west of the stage. I couldn't see who it was, I sat too far back for me to see." He explained that a boy was called from the audience, but that he couldn't say whether it was Mr. Planck who called the boy. "The boy came to the stage. The cage was rocked back and forth several times. The end door was opened and the boy reached in and got a ticket."

Q—"Who was the ticket handed to?" A—"Mr. Planck."

Q—"Who wrote the name of the horse on the blackboard? Mr Planck?" A—"No."

Q—"These tickets were drawn as shown, Nos. 1, 2, the names were drawn down to 10. It was drawn and some party, I didn't catch the name, at East Liberty. The question was asked if the party was in the house. The party wasn't there and the ticket was put back in the cage The drawing continued until 20 names and numbers were drawn. Then after four cases of films were held in front of this boy he drew one of them. It was given to an usher or an employe and taken to the projection room As far as I know it was taken there. The film was flashed on the screen, a comical race, and the horses stopped and the positions then were 13—No. 1, 19—No. 2, 14—No. 3."

Q—"Were the names of the winners announced then? A—The name of the first winner was announced and I don't know whether any others were announced or not.'

Q—"Do you know the name of the first winner?" A—"No, just heard them announce a name"

Q—"You had to buy a ticket to get in?" A—"I did."

Q—"Did you see advertising showing the sweepstakes?" A—"Yes, advertising showing the sweepstakes."

Q—"Do you know what the first prize was?" A—"No, sir, I do not. I wasn't interested in prizes.'

Mr. Strelitz: "It was following the announcement of 13 being a winning ticket that the police took Mr. Planck, and the blackboard away from the stage?" A—"I don't know. I left."

Q—"You were just in the audience?" A—"Yes, sir, sitting just ahead of the exit."

Q—"You went in at the regular time for the show and sat there and saw the performance?" A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"You sat near the exit on the west side?" A—"Yes. Not the one back by the manager's office, the one further up."

Q—"Did you open that door?" A—"Yes, from the inside."

Q—"You went there to signal the police?" A—"They came in."

Q—"These were your instructions?" A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"It was the door on the west side?" He went on to explain he left when he opened the door and went to the manager's office.

Q—"What did you do there?" Sergeant Reardon explained he stayed there until the manager returned.

Q—"Anyone could obtain the information you have?" A—"No one attempted to conceal anything. That was exactly as it happened. Anybody could see it."

Q—"And that has been true for 68 weeks?" A—"I don't know. I never saw a full show, although I had been invited to use my pass to get in."

ACCOUNT RELATED BY PATROLMAN NORTON

A 15-minute recess was granted, after which Patrolman Norton was called and Mr. Carhart began questioning him. The patrolman said he had been at the Palace theater and identified a ticket that had been given him after he had lost the original one.

Q—"It was issued to you by whom?" A—"I believe Miss Watts." He identified Exhibit No. 20 as his old address and his new address at 255 Madison avenue.

Q—"What is this called?" A—"That is the ticket for the sweepstakes."

Q—"About what time did you get this ticket the afternoon of Aug 18?" A—"About 3 25 in the afternoon.'

Q—"Is the green ink your writing?" A—"No"

Q—"It was written by whom?" A—"Miss Watts."

Q—"How was this disposed of?" A—"I don't know. I believe I left it right there."

Q—"Does Exhibit No. 15 show you had previously registered?" A—"I think so, yes."

Mr Carhart asked him to tell the manner in which he registered and Norton went on. "I was on duty with Patrolman Underhill. We went to register for the show'

Q—"Did you purchase tickets to the theater?" A—"Yes."

Q—"From whom?" A—"The regular ticket seller."

Q—"Can you identify her?" A—"Miss Groves."

Q—Did you purchase the ticket yourself?" A—"I didn't, but Underhill did."

Q—"You were present, did you hear conversation between Miss Groves and Underhill?"

Strelitz objected to conversation being entered as testimony and was sustained.

Carhart continued: "After you purchased the tickets to the theater what happened?" A—"We went on inside."

Here Norton said he believed it was Miss Srieves instead of Miss Watts who issued the duplicate ticket to him. "I had been instructed to go to the show and to get a sweepstakes ticket, I said I have been to the show and had a ticket. When I went to get a ticket Miss Srieves said she would make me out a duplicate ticket."

Q—"Was Exhibit No. 15 the duplicate ticket Miss Srieves handed you?" A—"Yes."

Q—"This was the registered ticket?" A—"No. 20 was the original. I don't know."

Q—"That was left with employe of the theater?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Did you stay for the show?" A—"No."

Q—"You came out?" A—"Yes.'

Q—"Was it necessary for you to stay and see the show?"

Here Strelitz objected that the witness was being led in his testimony. Carhart continued: "Immediately after registering what did you and Underhill do?" A—"Came back to the station."

Q—"Was Wednesday your regular day to work?" A—"No, it was my day off. I came back and helped."

Q—"Had you ever attended a previous drawing?" A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"Tell who was in charge." A—"Mr. Planck was in charge."

Q—"Did you hear any announcement being made?" A—"I did."

Q—"Can you relate what was being announced?" A—"He was announcing the winners that night."

Q—"Was it being announced to the audience or through a loudspeaker?" A—"He was making it to the audience himself."

QUESTIONED ABOUT SWEEPSTAKES TICKET

Strelitz took up the questioning as follows: "You had a sweepstakes ticket before?" A—"Yes."

Strelitz questioned him closely as to what was printed on the ticket, but Norton said he didn't recall Strelitz asked him if it was possible to register without making any payment. A—"Yes sir."

Q—"The only thing you paid for was the ticket to be admitted to the theater and to see the picture?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Were you registered?" A—"Yes"

Q—"Do you go occasionally. A—"Yes"

Q—"The price wasn't any different at any time, it was substantially the same?" A—"Yes."

Strelitz questioned Norton about the quality of the picture and the star.

Carhart took up the questioning as follows: "Where was the registration table with reference to the entrance to the theater?" A—"Just to the right in the lobby."

Q—"What was necessary before you could get inside to register?" A—'I gave a ticket to the ticket taker."

Q—"Underhill was in your presence; if you know, did he have a ticket?" A—"He had an admission ticket."

Q—"You both got them at the same time?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Do you know if it was possible to register without buying an admission ticket?" An objection by Strelitz was overruled and Norton replied: "I think it was necessary to buy a ticket."

Norton did not recall how many times he had registered. "More than once?" queried the solicitor. A—"Yes, sir."

An objection to a question referring to the procedure was sustained and Mr. Carhart continued: "On Aug. 18 the registration booths were where?" A—"In the lobby as you go up the stairs to the balcony."

Q—"Were any outside the theater?" A—"No."

Q—"Whom did you have to pass before you were admitted to the registration table?" A—"The ticket taker."

Strelitz took up the questioning as follows: "Did you make it known to any one that you didn't want to see the picture?" A—"No."

Q—"You did know that the ticket you had said 'Free'?" A—"Yes, I had seen the ticket."

After questioning Norton about his attending the theater prior to Aug. 18, Strelitz asked: "Were you actually in the theater the night of Aug. 18?" A—"Yes, sir."

Q—"Was it conducted any differently?" A—"From what I could see of it, it wasn't."

Patrolman Underhill, called to the stand, testified virtually the same responses, except that he had been on vacation and was called back for duty. He said it cost 25 cents for the ticket and told of the procedure, which included signing of names and addresses and the theater's retaining one end of the ticket. He said he did not attend the show, and that he had not previously attended a sweepstakes show. He said the part of the ticket he retained was what was given him and that the part he had signed was given to the girl who had asked him to sign it. He said he believed it was with Miss Srieves. Underhill denied attending the show. In reply to a question as to what happened after he registered he said: "We went to the balcony and through the east exit." Q—"In the afternoon?" A—"We did"

Questioned further he said he had taken a seat on the east side of the lower floor and had a comparatively good view of the proceedings Later, he said, he left the first floor and went into the balcony, but because of people standing he couldn't get "every detail" He said he didn't known Mr Planck personally, but that someone said it was Mr. Planck who was announcing on the microphone.

As to the size of the crowd, he said it was "a full house," with people standing at the rear of the balcony when the sweepstakes started.

Underhill was recalled by Strelitz after having been dismissed and questioned about entering the theater He said that for no particular reason they did not go out the first floor door.

Q—"What was the occasion for going into the balcony and leaving by the balcony exit?" A—"No particular reason"

Q—"Didn't you want anyone to see you were going out?" A—"Probably that might be it."

Q—"Your purpose was to buy a ticket and get out and testify?" A—"I had no objection to seeing the show."

Q—"Your instructions were to get a ticket and get out?" A—"Yes

Q—"Your instructions came from a superior officer?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Who?" A—"Marks."

TESTIMONY OF OTHER PATROLMEN

Officer Smith told Solicitor Carhart he and Kirts went in the afternoon of Aug. 18, at approximately 3 p. m. He said Kirts purchased the tickets, and recounted virtually the same story of registering with Miss Srieves. He identified exhibit No. 17 as the ticket given him by Miss Srieves. He said he did not see the show. When he returned to the evening performance he said he saw Mr. Planck, Miss Srieves and Miss Watts on the stage. He said he had purchased his ticket from Miss Groves. Smith identified the race board wire cage and registration box as having been on the stage, in the custody of Miss Watts He said he had not registered previous to the afternoon.

In response to questioning by Strelitz, Smith said his wife had registered previously, but that he had "just scanned" her registration ticket. He said Kirts had bought the tickets the afternoon of Aug. 18 and that he had never seen "this process known as sweepstakes" before. Smith said he was at the Palace the night the raid was made, but that there was no attempt to conceal the evidence of a sweepstakes, and that he did not expect any resistance to the raid.

Patrolman Kirts corroborated Smith's testimony, except that he said he had had a ticket before and lost it and had to get a new ticket. He identified the horse's name and his own signature, and said that Miss Srieves kept the registration ticket. Kirts said he had attended another sweepstakes night. Responding to Strelitz's questioning which followed, Kirts reiterated his testimony to Mr. Carhart and said Mrs. Kirts had registered in the early period of the sweepstakes. He said, however, that he had never been to a sweepstakes prior to Aug. 18. He said he walked into the theater immediately after the drawing, when Mr. Planck was making an announcement. He testified as to registering and the request that he sign his name and address on the registration ticket, which he later identified. He said he turned around and came out after he had registered and did not go back afterwards.

Gilmore Hiett, advertising manager for The Star, was questioned by Carhart.

Q—"Did you ever have a conversation with Mr. Planck with reference to sweepstakes advertising?" A—"I can't say I have."

Q—"Have any questions of advertising of the Palace theater, with reference to sweepstakes, been brought to your attention?" A—"No."

Q—"Have any of the Palace theater advertisements advertising sweepstakes been permitted in your paper?" A—"There have been no advertisements on sweepstakes."

Q—"Did anyone ever apply for permission to put in advertisements with reference to sweepstakes?" A—"No."

FIRST DEFENSE WITNESS CALLED

At 4 p. m. the state rested its case and Strelitz called his first character witness, Dr. E. L. Brady. In view of the fact that Strelitz also intended to call Dr. E. H. Morgan, Edgar Barnhart and W. D. Brown as character witnesses also, Solicitor Carhart said he would dispense with their testimony as to Mr. Planck's reputation and the reputation of people he associated with, as being good, law-abiding citizens

Testimony of Carl Wiseman, former Palace employe now with a Middletown theater, was stricken from the record on grounds that he had not been employed at the Palace since last July 19 and was not present when the raid was conducted

Miss Margaret Harlow of 326 Forest street, testified she won $190 at a sweepstakes night last February.

She was questioned by Strelitz as follows: "Were you in the theater at the time?" A—"No, I was in the lobby of the theater"

Q—"Did you claim the prize?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Did you purchase a ticket that night?" A—"No, I didn't."

Q—"That was the only time you won a prize?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Did you have a ticket?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Did you have a sweepstakes ticket when you went into the lobby?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Do you know on what occasion you had purchased the ticket? Was it on a sweepstakes night?" Miss Harlow said she didn't remember on what night she had purchased the ticket. She said she had registered in June, a year ago, shortly after the sweepstakes started

Q—"Had you often attended?" A—"I had"

Q—"Since registering?" A—"I have."

Q—"Had you ever registered in the afternoon?" A—"No."

Q—"You always attended at night?" A—"I didn't always attend, but I was always there at 9."

Q—"Did you stand in the lobby?" A—"Yes"

Q—"On this particular occasion you were awarded a prize were you alone?" A—"No." She said she had attended with two other girls, and testified she did not share the prize with anyone.

Q—"From whom did you claim the prize?" A—"It was given to me by Mr. Planck."

Q—"When you were in the lobby did you know who made the announcement you had won?" A—"No."

Q—"You surrendered a ticket costing you how much to get into the theater?" A—"I think it was 25 cents, but I couldn't say for sure."

Q—"This sweepstakes is generally known in the city?" A—"I think it is." Miss Harlow testified she had attended the theater many times both before and after she won the money.

Aultman Raub, secretary of the Marion County Agriculture society, was questioned by Strelitz as follows: "Do you have some proceeding to stimulate interest in the Marion County fair, whereby you give away prizes to other people?" A—"I refuse to answer on grounds it might be incriminating."

Q—"Included in the prizes this year are automobiles?" Mr Raub continued to refuse to testify, Strelitz said: "Refering to inquiries I make about prizes will refuse to answer?" A—[illegible]

"I won't press it. Strelitz "You are excused."

At 4:20 court was recessed till 9 a. m. today.

PATTERN 456

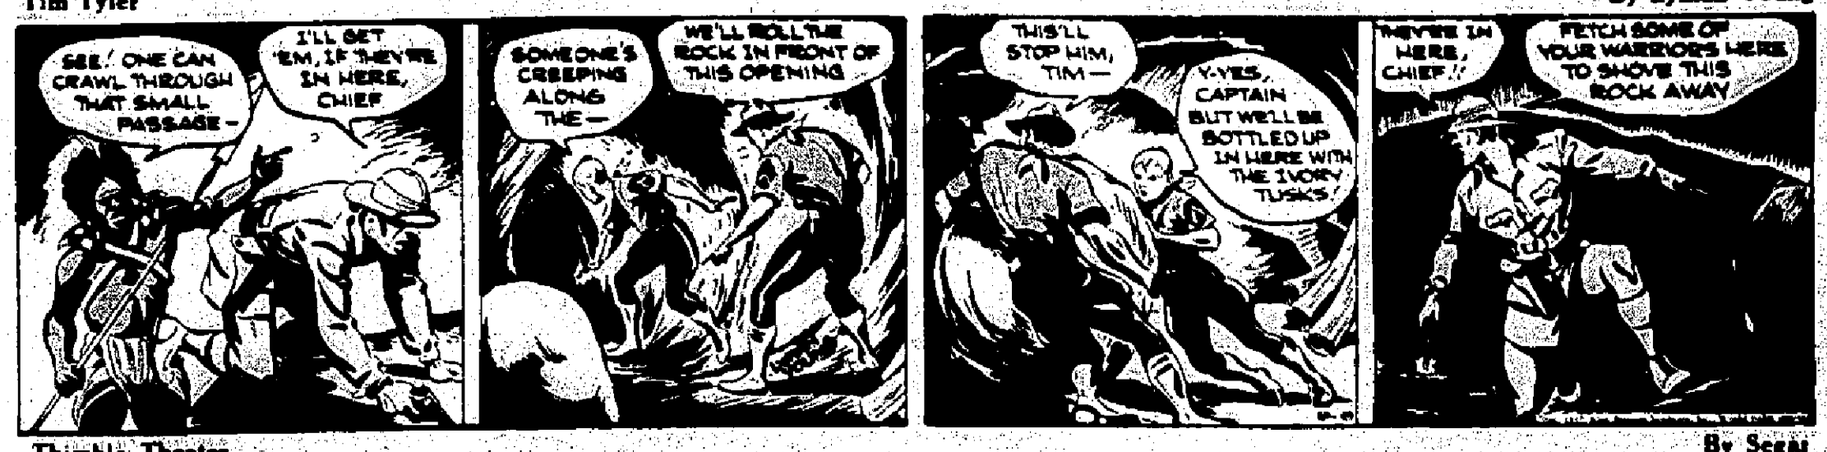

The Stars Say--

For Friday Sept. 10

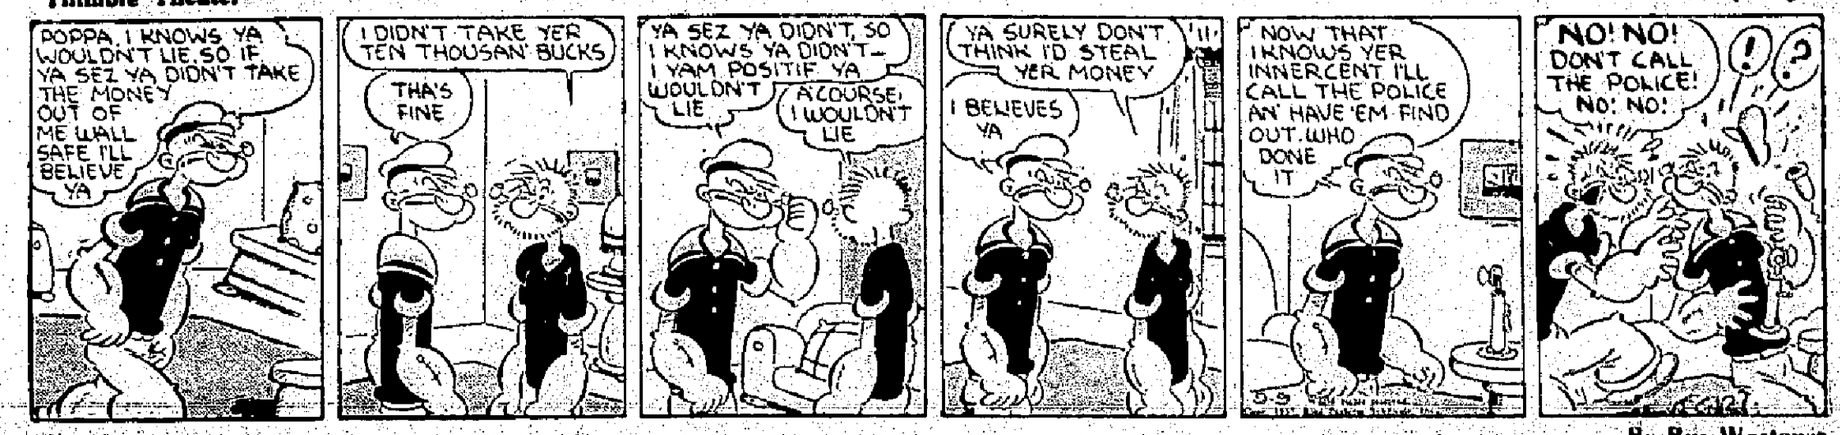

Events and developments of powerful effect on the life, its progress and prosperity, are forecast from the paramount influence of the major planets, both by lunar direction and mundane aspect. Enlarged opportunities for expansion and prosperity, increased values and earnings and enhanced power and popularity combine to make this a day of success.

Those whose birthday it is are under a year of great and powerful influences and activities that may be marshalled to make a decisive advance upon the plane of very high ambitions. Their initiative and energy, combination of powerful interests, increased capital and associations unite to promote personal power, prestige and popularity, as well as provoke some enmity and competition. Children born on this day may be brilliantly endowed with all the elements and factors that go to make high goals in progress. Prosperity, popularity and power as well as personal gratifications. But these gifts also evoke some rivalries, competition and enmities, both open and secret, public and private.

214 Cities Represented in Directory Library in Chamber of Commerce Office

Scores of people every month visit the library of city directories at the Marion Chamber of Commerce in the Marion National Bank building and the number of inquiries is steadily increasing, according to W. D. Brown, secretary. Somewhat of a barometer of business is the amount of interest being shown in the collection—for most of the consultants are business men and women seeking addresses of customers out-of-town.

Directories of 214 eastern and middlewestern cities are in the library and in each of the 214 cities Marion directories have been placed in return, Mr. Brown said.

The library is open to the public and in addition to the opportunity of consulting the books on hand any resident of the city may obtain addresses in cities for which the Chamber has no directory through a special service. The Chamber will write to similar organizations in any city in the country to obtain desired information of a reasonable nature.

28 States Represented

Twenty-eight states are represented in the library, Ohio having the largest number of directories 51. Detroit has the largest directory, a cumbersome affair of some 3,000 pages. Bowling Green's directory with only 150 pages is the smallest. The only foreign directory is that of Montreal, Canada.

Just received this week at the Chamber is the new classified directory for New York City, listing businesses in a fashion similar to those in the Marion city telephone directory's yellow section.

An attempt is being made to build up the library each year as various cities put out new directories, Mr. Brown said.

None of the directories may be taken out of the Chamber but they may be used as long and as often as desired, Mr. Brown said. In addition to the directories of the various cities, the library contains a nationwide directory of registered manufacturers.

The list of cities which have directories here follows:

Lose Pounds—Inches Off Hips, Waist

This Safe, Easy Way Then You'll Feel and Look Years Younger

If you have been afraid to reduce or if you have not had good results in the past, you will be grateful to modern science for discovering Korjena, a tested and proven treatment for reducing excessive fat.

PHILADELPHIA Lady writes: Mrs. Wm. Weimar, 2144 E. Abigail street. Seven weeks ago I started taking Korjena. I weighed 196 pounds, so far have lost 23 pounds, 4 inches off waist, 7 inches off hips, besides that bloated feeling has disappeared and I feel much better. Korjena certainly does everything claimed for it.

With Korjena it's so easy, you simply take one tiny Tablet after each meal. YOU EAT WHAT YOU WANT, but just eat moderately, no tiresome waiting for results, no back-breaking exercises, no strict diet. In a short time you will see a decided change in your whole appearance.

Ugly surplus fat around waist, hips, bust, arms and ankles just melts away, not leaving your skin flabby, but smooth and firm. Gradually you will gain graceful slender lines, a new physical attractiveness.

We urge you to try Korjena because it contains no dinitrophenal, no thyroid. You do not feel weak at any time, you do not have that "drawn look" because the action of Korjena Tablets are scientifically correct. Guaranteed SAFE

Don't wait another day, surprise your husband by having a trim, neat and more stylish figure. Enjoy being able to wear the smart new dresses and being admired by your friends. YOU OWE IT TO YOURSELF, to give this remarkable reducing treatment a trial in Two Weeks you will be amazed at the change in your appearance, or our clerks will cheerfully refund your money.

Remember! Korjena Tablets SAFELY Dissolve Fat

High Blood Pressure can be reduced in many cases and symptoms relieved, says eminent physician

Dr. Frederic Damrau, eminent physician of New York City, says that ALLIMIN Essence of Garlic Parsley Tablets often help to reduce High Blood Pressure, and that the continued use of these tablets at prescribed intervals helps to keep the blood pressure down "by dilating the peripheral capillaries of the body surface, thus lessening the burden upon the heart." This is only one of the beneficial effects offered by the use of these tablets, says Dr. Damrau. To get the full facts, send your name and address, and an extremely interesting booklet of facts and valuable information will be sent you free. Better still, give ALLIMIN Tablets a trial and learn for yourself how much they may help you. ALLIMIN Tablets are tasteless, odorless and guaranteed free from dangerous drugs of every kind. STOCKS RALLY UP TO 4 POINTS

Gains Retained but Volume Dwindles Near Fourth Hour of Trading.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 9—Stocks zoomed through the gloom clouds in today's market for recoveries running to four or more points.
Gains were well held near the fourth hour, but the comparatively large volume at the opening dwindled.
Although the dark texture of the Mediterranean dispute and Sino-Japanese conflict continued, and there was no particular turn in the skeptical attitude regarding a fall business pickup, many traders thought this week's slump called for at least a technical rebound and acted accordingly. Some short covering was also noted.
Steels, which bore the brunt of Tuesday's excited selling, were among the first to push forward. Rails, motors, farm implements, rubbers, utilities, mail orders, coppers and specialties followed without much effort.
U. S. government securities and secondary carrier loans tilted higher. Commodities were somewhat uneven.
Outstanding on the upside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, National Steel, Wheeling Steel, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chrysler, General Motors, International Harvester, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Goodyear, Western Union Westinghouse and General Electric.
Both London and Paris markets improved and private cables to commission houses from British sources suggested financial quarters abroad believed the recent relapse in American securities was too severe despite the European war scare and fears for trade prospects.
There was more margin calling reported in view of the impaired condition of many speculative accounts, but the majority of brokerage customers were said to have "made good" with cash and obviated, in most cases, the forced selling of holdings.
Tending to bolster sentiment were estimates placing last week's freight shipments at a new peak for the year of around 812,000 cars or 6.3 per cent above the corresponding period in 1936.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start backaches, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, nervousness and getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FOUR SONGBIRDS OF THE FILMS

You're looking at four of the most famous songbirds in the entertainment world. The cameraman got them all together as they attended a Hollywood party. They are, left to right, Gladys Swarthout, Jeanette MacDonald, Lily Pons and Grace Moore. Miss Moore immediately afterwards entered a hospital for an operation.

At midnight, a violent storm broke and tore the ship from its moorings. The captain had only sufficient time to jump into a lifeboat and save his life and that of his 10 sailors.

How deep the ship lies embedded in the soft sand today, is not known. That is the risk on which the bidders will be obliged to base their offers. What is put up for action is actually a permit to search for the treasure with a condition that the state will reserve the right to one-third of the value recovered.

Thus far, three attempts have been made and the position of the wreck has been ascertained fairly accurately. The first attempt was made by the government in 1818, but the wreck was not found. A second was made in 1837 by Mr. Magny, an engineer, who found the site of the wreck, but only succeeded in refloating a few boards, spending $15,000 doing it.

A third and equally unsuccessful attempt was made a few years ago. In 1935, a salvage firm asked for permission to work on the wreck. This request, however, led to others, and to be fair the authorities decided to auction the salvage rights. The bidding is scheduled to take place some time in June.

FIVE STATE POLICE HOOKUP COMPLETE

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3—Complete coordination of police radio systems in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana to aid in the capture of fast-traveling criminals was an aim of police superintendents who returned to home states today after a conference here.

Donald F. Stiver, Indiana superintendent, said the officials had set up plans for instant inter-communication by radio-telegraph and the establishment of interstate blockades.

The superintendents, he pointed out, also emphasized the need of closer cooperation with the federal bureau of investigation. The Indiana state police board dismissed Matt Leach as captain last week for his alleged refusal to cooperate with g-men.

214 Cities Represented in Directory Library in Chamber of Commerce Office

Scores of people every month visit the library of city directories at the Marion Chamber of Commerce in the Marion National Bank building and the number of inquiries is steadily increasing, according to W. D. Brown, secretary. Somewhat of a barometer of business is the amount of interest being shown in the collection—for most of the consultants are business men and women seeking addresses of customers out-of-town.

Directories of 214 eastern and middlewestern cities are in the library and in each of the 214 cities Marion directories have been placed in return, Mr. Brown said.

The library is open to the public and in addition to the opportunity of consulting the books on hand, any resident of the city may obtain addresses in cities for which the Chamber has no directory through a special service. The Chamber will write to similar organizations in any city in the country to obtain desired information of a reasonable nature.

28 States Represented

Twenty-eight states are represented in the library, Ohio having the largest number of directories, 51. Detroit has the largest directory; a cumbersome affair of some 3,000 pages. Bowling Green's directory with only 150 pages is the smallest. The only foreign directory is that of Montreal, Canada.

Just received this week at the Chamber is the new classified directory for New York City, listing businesses in a fashion similar to those in the Marion city telephone directory's yellow section.

An attempt is being made to build up the library each year as various cities put out new directories, Mr. Brown said.

None of the directories may be taken out of the Chamber but they may be used as long and as often as desired, Mr. Brown said. In addition to the directories of the various cities, the library contains a nationwide directory of registered manufacturers.

The list of cities which have directories here follows:

Alabama — Anniston City, Birmingham, Mobile, Montgomery, Tuscaloosa.
Arkansas—Little Rock.

GOLD IN SUNKEN SHIP FOR SALE

France To Auction Louis XVI Craft Buried in Seine With $25,000,000.

By United Press

PARIS—The armed brig Telemaque which sank 150 years ago in the Seine estuary, allegedly with [illegible] worth of treasures aboard, is to be put up at auction.

The decision was taken by the French government following repeated demands to search for what is considered to be the most valuable wreck lost at sea.

The Telemaque's treasure was brought together by Louis XVI who, foreseeing the coming of the French revolution, had nearly all of the most precious ornaments in his possession, secretly embarked on the brig. The treasure is supposed to include Marie Antoinette's famous $6,000,000 necklace and [illegible]0 in gold out of Louis XVI's personal fortune. It also includes sacred ornaments which were assembled in the Rouen cathedral and silver objects of the abbeys of Jumieges and Saint Martin de Boscherville.

On Jan. 1, 1790, Adrien Quentin, the Telemaque's captain, was offered a large sum of money to transport to London what he thought were barrels of tar. According to the story, he was not aware of the value of the cargo entrusted to him. He set sail at Rouen and started down the river Seine. He was obliged to tie up and wait, upon arriving at the estuary, as the tide was unfavorable.

At midnight, a violent storm broke and tore the ship from its moorings. The captain had only sufficient time to jump into a lifeboat and save his life and that of his 10 sailors.

How deep the ship lies embedded in the soft sand today, is not known. That is the risk on which the bidders will be obliged to base their offers. What is put up for action is actually a permit to search for the treasure with a condition that the state will reserve the right to one-third of the value recovered.

Thus far, three attempts have been made and the position of the wreck has been ascertained fairly accurately. The first attempt was made by the government in 1818, but the wreck was not found. A second was made in 1837 by Mr. Magny, an engineer, who found the site of the wreck, but only succeeded in refloating a few boards, spending $15,000 doing it.

A third and equally unsuccessful attempt was made a few years ago. In 1935, a salvage firm asked for permission to work on the wreck. This request, however, led to others, and to be fair the authorities decided to auction the salvage rights. The bidding is scheduled to take place some time in June.

FIVE STATE POLICE HOOKUP COMPLETE

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 8—Complete coordination of police radio systems in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana to aid in the capture of fast-traveling criminals was an aim of police superintendents who returned to home states today after a conference here.

Donald F. Stiver, Indiana superintendent, said the officials had set up plans for instant inter-communication by radio-telegraph and the establishment of interstate blockades.

The superintendents, he pointed out, also emphasized the need of closer cooperation with the federal bureau of investigation. The Indiana state police board dismissed Matt Leach as captain last week for his alleged refusal to cooperate with g-men.

FRUIT GROWERS USE MORE ADS

Decide It's Good Business To Put On Campaign To Explain Apples' Value.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS—Ohio apple growers have decided that if it is good business practice to spend money each year to grow apples, it also is good economics to invest in an advertising campaign to explain to consumers the fruit's food value, according to F. H. Beach of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio State Horticultural society.

W. H. Hilbish of Painesville and W. B. Baughman of New Concord have been calling on orchard owners and report that apple producers who expect to harvest 500,000 bushels have already adopted the advertising plan. The average yearly production of apples in Ohio in the five years 1928-32 was 1,920,000 bushels.

Expectations for apples and all other fruits in Ohio are much better this year than in 1936, Beach said. Fall and winter apples will almost double last year's crop up on the shore of Lake Erie and in southeastern Ohio. Improvements in the crop in other parts of the state range from 13 per cent in central Ohio to 60 per cent in the southwest section.

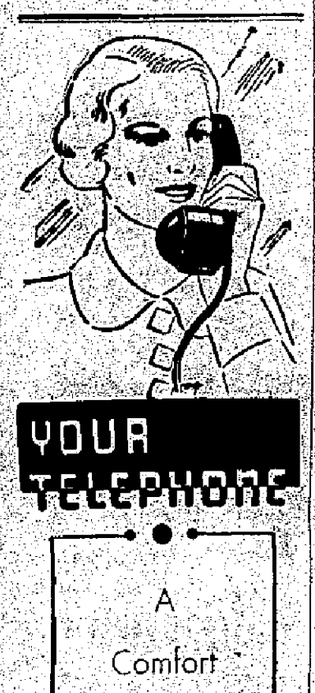

The peach crop this year is expected to be five times as good as that of last year in all Ohio areas, except the lake shore with 150 per cent better crop and the eastern section with twice as good a crop. Plums will be considerably more plentiful than in 1936 in all Ohio sections and more pears will be harvested except along the lake and on the east side of the state.

Beach pointed out that although there is a great improvement in the 1937 Ohio pears crop as compared with last year's harvest, the present crop still will be below the average for the 1928-32 period because so many trees were killed in the winter of 1935-36 that the total number of bearing trees in the state is much smaller now than in former years.

Hot, Cold Baths.

There is considerable difference in the effect of hot and cold water upon the skin. Marked effects are produced when the water is either much hotter or much colder than the temperature of the body. For the daily bath the water temperature should be between 90 degrees and 100 degrees.

In taking a cold bath, there is a noticeable contraction of the tissues of the skin, followed by a feeling of stimulation and a warm glow over the entire body. If the cold bath is prolonged, the skin loses its tone, the body becomes blue and the skin is cold and clammy to the touch. For this reason there is a limit to the length of time one should stay in a bath, whether it is hot or cold, but particularly if cold.

On getting out of the tub, rub the body briskly with a coarse towel to stimulate the circulation. In taking a hot bath, one should be careful not to stay in it too long because the stimulation of the blood vessels produces a sense of relaxation and depression. This may be followed by faintness.

Hot baths to which salts have been added are used for various purposes. They may be recommended for the reduction of weight and sometimes merely because of their soothing effect. But whatever the purpose of the hot bath, you must be careful not to overdo it.

The kind of bath you take is determined by your personal tastes. Some prefer a cold shower in the morning, perhaps following a warm bath. Others may take a tepid bath at night. Taken just before retiring, this may prove to be very soothing. But even such a bath should not be prolonged; otherwise wakefulness will follow.

I cannot overstate the value of bathing. Good health is dependent upon a clean skin. In the summer time ocean bathing is found to be very stimulating. In many places the salt water may be enjoyed during the winter by reason of the excellent indoor swimming pools.

Lack of proper bathing leaves the skin rough and scaly and lessens proper elimination. Whether you use hot or cold water makes little difference. It is said by some that cold water aids in the oxidation of the starches and sugars, and that hot water aids in the oxidation of the proteins. Both hot and cold baths process by which "metabolism," that process by which our bodily balance is measured.

Answers to Health Queries

Miss J. L. Q.—My complexion a year ago was nice and young looking—rosy cheeks, nice healthy lips—but now it has all faded away. While I am only 19 years old, I hate to see this happen. I use powder, no rouge and no lipstick. Please tell me what is the matter. What shall I do to have my youthful complexion back?

A—Make every effort to improve your general health. Overcome any tendency toward faulty elimination. You should be out in the fresh air and sunshine as much as possible. Wash the face thoroughly several times a day. For full particulars restate your question, and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Team Coached by Former Waldo Man in Stock Show

One will be represented in livestock judging competition for the national championship by a team of three Shelby county boys coached by Ralph E. Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bender of Bethlehem road near Waldo. The three-man team recently carried off the Ohio F. F. A. championship in competition with more than 100 other teams from throughout the state.

They are Paul Billing, Orlando Elsbaff and Donald Brandt. A story of their achievement and of the personal history of Mr. Bender appears in the September issue of the Ohio State Grange Monthly on page four. A picture of the boys and Mr. Bender accompanies the article.

Their chance to win the national title will come Oct. 19 at the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City. Dozens of trophies, scholarships and cash prizes await winning teams and high scoring individuals. The boys won the 4-H club championship of Ohio last year and represented Ohio at the International Livestock show at Chicago.

Mr. Bender, who this fall began his duties as an instructor in the Ohio State university training school for vocational agriculture student teachers at Canal Winchester, coached the boys while he taught at Anna High school in Shelby county.

"A great deal of credit for the success of this team belongs to their coach and instructor," the magazine article states.

"Bender has been active in grange work for 12 years, having become a member of Bethlehem grange, Marion county, at the age of 14. He received the sixth and seventh degrees in 1925, and encouraged a class of 10 students from Anna High school to make a similar advancement in 1936. He also lent assistance in the organization of Anna Grange in Shelby county recently."

While a student at Waldo High school, Mr. Bender entered a steer in the Cleveland livestock show and carried off the grand championship with his entry. He holds the American Farmer degree of the F. F. A., granted while he was an undergraduate student.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

Lose Fat The Easy Way — Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Reducing and Riding Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over — because you are carrying too much fat — do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right. All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks — and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait — get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

SEPT. 30 DEADLINE FOR SOIL CHECKUP

County Farm Agent Receives Notification from State Conservation Officials.

County Farm Agent S. L. Anderson was notified yesterday that all farms whose owners wish to participate in cash benefits under the 1937 federal soil conservation program must undergo their first performance checkup before Sept. 30. The notification was from state soil conservation officials.

The Marion county checkup started early last month, is nearing completion, Mr. Anderson said. Virtually all the approximately 1,600 farms which are to be checked have been inspected by the soil committee's agents and the work is expected to be completed well before the deadline.

In October a second checkup will be made chiefly of soil building practices, such as liming, new seedings and reforestation.

The checking is being done by one appointed agent in each township. Daily reports are made to the office of the county agent where figures are compiled for submission to the state office. Cash benefits are computed at the Columbus office.

Down a Peg or Two.

JAPANESE still are pouring troops into Shanghai in a desperate attempt to mop up a situation which, experts predicted, wouldn't give Japan's highly trained and fully equipped soldiers any trouble at all.

Yet, all over China, with everything in their favor, Japanese soldiers are having trouble with Chinese, who are poorly trained, for the most part, inadequately equipped and wholly unblessed by a national tradition of militarism, a vision of destiny or a burning desire to die on the battlefield for glory's sake.

In Spain, the followers of Gen. Franco, with everything in their favor, are having similar trouble with loyalists, who didn't even know how to fire guns when the civil war started. True, as in China, it still looks as though the favored side ultimately would win on points, but the underdogs simply won't give up and admit they're whipped. They're fighting on their hearts—but how they're fighting!

Meanwhile, they're making the world take notice—just as an obscure Welsh fighter made the world take notice a few nights ago by refusing to fold up under the blows of a superior fighter. Taking the favorites—and the experts—down a peg or two seems to be becoming a habit.

Sentimental Occasion.

COLLEGIANS and some high school students can understand, but few elementary scholars are old enough yet to see why the opening of school is a sentimental occasion.

In years to come, though, they too will understand what it means to start off to school in September, to be in a new class, to meet new teachers, to set a new goal and to strive toward it with new books and new hopes.

They will understand what it means to mothers and fathers to send off a cherubic toddler to the first grade, an awkward adolescent to high school and a confident young man or woman to college.

They will yearn again for the smell of chalk dust and clean paper. They will long to feel again the excitement of new surroundings and different interests. They even will wish they could sit once more in a schoolroom wishing they could be outside doing something else.

Why? It's so simple. Each school year is a new experience—guaranteed to last not more than nine months in case it becomes monotonous. There's nothing like it afterward, when success and failure both run on, year in and year out with no vacation to break the monotony and no September to mark a fresh start and a new goal.

A Farmer-Labor Alliance.

COMPLICATIONS of political realignment are increased by the position which John L. Lewis took in his speech last Friday night.

Mr. Lewis made a strong bid for a farmer-labor alliance in the United States. He confessed an inclination to break with the Roosevelt administration. He spoke confidently of labor's power and of the common interests of industrial workers and farmers.

More to the point, he predicted Martin L. Davey could not be reelected governor of Ohio because he had incurred Mr. Lewis's displeasure. He castigated President Roosevelt for mildly reproving both sides in the abortive strike called against independent steel companies—a presidential slap on the wrist so gentle it was generally assumed at the time that Mr. Roosevelt meant nothing by it.

Mr. Lewis must back up his words; he's in politics now. He must make sure Gov. Davey is not reelected and must make President Roosevelt eat out of his hand, or use his C.I.O. following to form a third party—independent of the established parties which will not take his orders.

In other words, Mr. Lewis has jumped into the political pool, and if he can't swim well enough to reach the other side he will sink. It is the same kind of situation which made Mr. Roosevelt take such desperate measures to win his point in the supreme court fight—at the expense of his own prestige and the unity of his followers. There was enough chaos in national politics without addition of a class-conscious C.I.O. bloc seking a farm alliance to give the United States a proletarian movement.

There are rumors that Mr. Morgenthau may resign his treasury job because of worry over how to raise money to meet new deal demands. For one inclined to worry that task does seem to be one of almost unlimited possibilities.

Ohio housewives are rolling up their sleeves and getting into the fall canning season and it's a safe bet that not many of them will pay strict attention to the new law limiting women's work week to 48 hours.

A Broadway millionaire's attempt to round up his three ex-wives to act as judges in determining how much alimony he should pay No 4 might raise the question of where he got the idea of selecting his own court.

Widespread Criticism of National Labor Relations Board May Not Be Justified by Facts.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—There seems to be widespread criticism of the way the national labor relations board is conducting its work. But, in fairness to the board, it should be stated that its procedure is laid down by the federal statute passed by congress, and while there have been many instances of arbitrariness and favoritism in the handling of cases by trial examiners, the truth is the citizen has ample redress against the findings by the board itself.

Thus, whenever a "complaint" is issued by the board, there are some people who think this in itself is a decision or order or ruling. A "complaint" is up for formal hearing, when the parties to the dispute may offer witnesses to refute or confirm the charges that were the basis of the complaint.

Every time charges are filed against an employer, there is not necessarily a "complaint" issued. The board is supposed to make an investigation. The purpose is to see whether there is some substance to the charges. This is what the federal trade commission and other agencies of the government do when the issuance of "complaint" is asked for by some one who thinks he has been the victim of unfair competition. Once the "complaint" is issued, however, it becomes the duty of the board or governmental commission to try the charges out at a formal hearing.

The newspapers have lately printed many dispatches telling how trial examiners, acting for the national labor relations board, have refused arbitrarily to hear certain witnesses or to accept certain testimony. Usually the contention has been that employes' evidence is admitted, but employers' rebuttal is not allowed to be heard.

Whatever may be the merit of this particular aspect of the question, the fact remains that the record in a given case is by no means completed when the trial examiner gets through with the hearing and makes his report. The national labor relations board itself can reopen the hearing and admit the testimony to which objection has been made by the trial examiner. Or the employer can take the issue to court and get the testimony inserted into the record that way and perhaps get the ruling reversed by the court because important testimony was not admitted. A few reversals by the courts on points of this kind will tend to make the trial examiners much more judicial and fair-minded in admitting testimony to the record.

The national labor relations act itself provides that the board's "finding of facts shall be conclusive," but that the court may admit testimony not previously heard. The section of the law on this point is as follows:

The findings of the board as to the facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive. If either party shall apply to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence and show to the satisfaction of the court that such additional evidence is material and that there is reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the hearing before the board, its member, agent, or agency, the court may order such additional evidence to be taken before the board, its member, agent, or agencies, and to be made a part of the transcript.

"The board may modify its findings as to the facts or make new findings by reason of additional evidence so taken and filed, and it shall file such modified or new findings, which, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive, and shall file its recommendations, if any, for the modification or setting aside of its original order.

"The jurisdiction of the court shall be exclusive and its judgment and decree shall be final, except that the same shall be subject to review by the appropriate circuit court of appeals if application is made to the district court, as herein above provided, and by the supreme court of the United States upon writ of certiorari. . ."

Certainly the failure of a trial examiner to accept evidence offered would be considered by a court a "reasonable ground for the failure to adduce such evidence" for the record.

All in all, the employer has the opportunity to get a fair record by taking the labor board's findings into court. It ought not to be necessary to do this, because a governmental tribunal with quasi-judicial powers should be fair at the outset. But until the trial examiners are better disciplined, either by the board or by the courts, it will be necessary for the courts to instruct and educate these examiners and perhaps the board itself in what constitutes fairmindedness in hearing testimony and evidence on the basis of which justice is supposed to be administered.

A Little Shop Closes

New York Business One of Small Enterprises Hit by Collectivization, Wage and Hour Laws.

The following article is of special interest as a comparison in the mind of a highly trained writer between the effect of regulation of small business in the United States and its effect abroad. The article appeared originally in The New York Times.

By ANNE O'HARE McCORMICK

NEAR Madison avenue on an up per east side street in New York City, is a little restaurant of the type that is almost as characteristic of that metropolis as the neighborhood bistro of the Faubourg St. Germain or the Rond Point is of Paris.

Both have a small and fairly regular clientele composed mostly of residents in the block. The proprietors are usually women who either do the cooking or personally supervise it, and the fare is extraordinarily good of its kind, the French a bit subtler, excelling in soups and the sauces that glorify inferior raw material; the American more abundant, specializing in homemade pies and cakes and the "picture salads."

The restaurant referred to is 100 per cent American. It is run by a widow who turned her one talent to account when she had to earn her living. In typical American fashion she tries to make her place "homelike," with flowers, brasses, doylies, colored dishes. The Paris patronne is never of the same type or background. She is harder, sharper, earthier, at once more impersonal and more definite as a person. Fortunately, she does not attempt to add color or feminine touches to her bare little establishment. If she did, they would be atrocious.

A volume illuminating the unbridgeable chasms between the habits, sense of values and psychology of two similar civilizations could be written out of the contrasts in these neighborhood gathering places, in both cities so close to the ground level of metropolitan life. But what strikes one more nowadays than the differences is the fact that in Paris and New York they are up against a common problem, which they discuss in almost identical terms.

The New Yorker announced the other night that she was going to shut up shop when her lease expired. For 10 years or so she has been modestly successful. She has employed half a dozen people at good wages, paid the upkeep and made a living.

"But under today's conditions small businesses like this cannot survive," she says. "I have always paid more than the union scale. I believe in the 40 hour week. I should never expect an employe to work the hours I work. But double shifts, multiplied taxes, higher prices for food, just can't be absorbed by a narrow turnover like mine. Concerns employing hundreds of thousands can make the adjustment, but the day of private enterprise on this scale, of building up a business by team work, is over. I won't stay to be bankrupt. I mean to try for a job with a salary."

Her words echoed words heard over and over again this year in France, that economy compact of small businesses. They recalled a composite figure, the most familiar on the French landscape — a woman sitting at the caisse figuring, a woman shuttling back and forth between kitchen and tables in a restaurant, a woman making hats with two helpers, the patronne of the village inn. Men, too —the small shoemaker, the small shopkeeper, the owner of the little glove factory in Grenoble—but the women stand out, because they were all worried, on edge, gloomy about the future. They were like women in wartime, holding on to a lost cause and conscious of defeat.

It is hard to forget the face of the proprietor of one shop as two customers left because they could not wait to be served. "We are ruined, madame!" she cried. "I am losing all my business. It is impossible to employ more than two clerks, and on the new schedule one is off duty half the time. For us little people the world is finished."

Recalling the NRA

The same complaint echoed in this country when the NRA was in force. Of the impressions gathered in a trip through a dozen states at that time, the writer remembers best, the troubled faces of the small business people. The publisher of a weekly Kansas newspaper typified them all. He kept his shop busy between issues by printing handbills and programs for the town, letterheads and billheads for the farmers. Under the code he had to double his price to that of the city printer. "It's too much," he protested. "I make money at the old price. And the farmers can't afford printed letterheads at the new, so nobody gets the business."

And that recalls the German who runs a well stocked bookshop in a university town. He took a small part in politics in the old days and lectured at the university. Among his books he preserves his private opinions, as many Germans do.

"Here there is nothing to be done," he sighed, as we sat talking in a librarylike room behind the shop. "In double quick time, in bloodless but brutal fashion, we Germans are being subjected to collectivization that in some form goes on everywhere. Whether any people can resist it I don't know. But when I look at your country and France I marvel that you invite it. The toughness and resilience of France is that she is a great middle class country. Yet the French are engaged in a systematic destruction of the middle class by legislating the small proprietor out of existence. Now you, whose middle class has actually grown on mass production, so that you're all middle class, you start taking the bounce out of your system by squeezing the little fellow out of business and changing the middle class psychology. Don't forget it wasn't big business that made Hitler. It wasn't labor. It was a middle class at a dead end, and that point marks the dead end of the political institutions of the middle class. Nobody else cares about democracy."

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, Sept. 9, 1927.

The monoplane "Pride of Detroit," with Edward F. Schlee and William S. Brock aboard, arrived at Hong Kong, China, in an attempted round-the-world flight. The last hop was 600 miles from Hanoi, French Indo-China, and the fliers announced they hoped to beat the previous world flight record of 28¾ days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Minard of Cherry street returned from a motor trip to Chicago and other points on the great lakes.

Mrs. Charles H. Elliott received 60 guests at a tea, the last of a series of social events at which she was hostess during the fall.

It was Sunday, Sept. 9, 1917.

Restoring Old Salem

By WALTER MONMOUTH
International News Writer.

SALEM, Mass.—Steeped in lore of bygone days when her three-masted schooners scoured the seas, ancient Salem's Derby wharf will soon be restored to its rightful place as a historic landmark.

Worn by centuries of ceaseless tide, the venerable wharf has lain in idleness since the sailing ship gave way to the steamboat and Salem's maritime power began to fade.

Now a grant of federal funds has been made, and the historic wharf will be restored to its fullest glory, as it appeared when Salem led in the flourishing Far East trade.

Nathaniel Hawthorne

The wharf took its name from Richard Derby, a merchant prince of the colonial period whose towering mansion, richly furnished with treasures of the Andes, still stands overlooking the harbor.

In the stately old customhouse at the head of the wharf, Nathaniel Hawthorne spent many hours, while serving as customs inspector and weaving plots of his immortal stories. Tradition says that it was here the theme of "The Scarlet Letter" was conceived.

When the colonies revolted from British rule, Salem turned her fast-sailing fleet to the service of the revolution, capturing more British vessels than boats from all other American ports combined.

Again, in the war of 1812, Salem provided 40 out of a total of 280 armed vessels used by the United States. A large portion of this fleet set sail from Derby wharf and anchored there between forays.

Salem Once Queen Port.

Long before Boston, New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia had taken their places on the roster of great eighteenth century ports, Salem was the recognized leader. Railroad developments and the advent of deep-draft steamships eclipsed its star.

Cooperating in the restoration movement are the federal government, commonwealth of Massachusetts, city of Salem, and the Society for Preservation of New England Antiquities. The project will cost about $150,000.

The restoration is the first under the National Historic Sites act passed by congress. The act provides for federal funds to vitalize and commemorate traditions associated with the early development of the nation.

Daily Bible Thought

LOVE OF THE WORLD: Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.—1 John 2:15.

Gold-Brick Census.

The recent session of congress passed, and the President has just signed, what is probably the phonlest piece of legislation the new deal has produced. That is the law which pretends to provide for a census of the unemployed.

This newspaper has had a good deal to say about the asininity of conducting federal relief spending by guesswork. It has never believed it sound practice to allow Harry Hopkins to count his fingers, multiply by a million, and gravely announce the result as the number who must be cared for. It has repeatedly urged that a census of the unemployed be taken. The facts to be ascertained by such a census are fundamental to intelligent handling of relief, to intelligent measures for re-employment, and to realistic estimates of the future trend of the federal budget.

With questions of such gravity dependent on honest answers to questions, the administration has passed a bill for "voluntary registration" of the unemployed. How can this showing of hands tell us anything?

We already know how many are on relief. We already know how many have sought jobs through the federal employment service. What we need to know is how many are unemployed in relation to the total number of employed, how many are employed only on a part time basis, how many unemployed have ever worked, what are their ages and skills, and many other pertinent answers.

Under a "voluntary registration" there is no reason to believe that those who have not already sought relief or placement will be registered. There is every reason to believe that many now employed, who would like better jobs, will register. In short, the result will be entirely meaningless.

It is worse than meaningless, however. It has the vicious effect of pretending to answer questions which will not have been asked. It is a complete sham.

It has been said that Mr. Hopkins opposed a genuine census, for obvious reasons. It has been said that Madame Perkins opposed a genuine census for fear it would show the number of aliens receiving relief. As to this, we do not know. We do know that, for whatever reason, the administration has handed the public one of the worst gold bricks on record.—Cleveland News.

A German engineer has developed a steel ring to surround the propeller of a ship to control the amount and velocity of water drawn through the propeller to increase its power.

In New York

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—Somehow a couple of writers exchanging punches appeals to the news rooms. Perhaps because such fisticuffs are so rare and that scribblers are associated with a certain aestheticism. The most recent of the mixups was that between Ernest Hemingway and Max Eastmen.

While there were only two or three actual eyewitnesses the bars and grills burned with a hundred versions for the next ten days. Hemingway was knocked galleywest across a desk with an upper cut, Eastman was slapped with a book and fainted and so on.

Hemingway made some crack about hair on his chest and that was duck-soup for the reporters and paragraphers. No wonder he sailed hastily for Spain the next day. Anyway it proved again the public will look upon a fist fight between litterateurs as only hanky-panky.

Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser had a go several years ago at a dinner Ray Long gave at the Metropolitan club. I have heard at least a dozen eye-witness versions. The truth is nobody saw the scrap. Dreiser invited Lewis into a private room and delivered a sharp smack or so.

* * *

Then there is the bellowing, outraged fellow who roars into the news rooms to lick the editor. I saw but one of the breed, peeping out from my reserved seat under the copy desk to which I hastily slid when he arrived. It was in East Liverpool, O., about 3 a. m. and he had just come down from the West Virginia mountains wild, woolly and full of fleas. Our editor was a sallow, thin and bookish fellow gazing upon the world through enormously thick glasses. But had plenty of red corpuscles. He permitted the bully to shout awhile until he passed an epithet reflecting on the editor's mother. Like a wild cat he was at his throat, scratching, kicking, biting and uttering a strange sound that sounded for all the world like a squealing pig. They rolled down the wooden stairs together and when police came the editor was still astride, doing his stuff. The next day he resigned as though ashamed of his rage.

* * *

E. B. White, who affected a coyness while writing his sometimes whimsical and sometimes acrobilious paragraphs for the New Yorker, is about the only writer of his time to give up a fairly good job—just to get away from it all and think things over. He asked for a year's absence but his friends say he will never go back. The world for him is just too perfectly disillusioning. His successor was regarded as an odd choice, a graduate manager of athletics at Cornell and middle aged. But he substituted for White two weeks and did such an excellent job he was practically drafted. Another star of the New Yorker recently decided to go gypsying and sailed for Europe to remain a year. He is James G. Thurber, who will contribute from his hide-away as the spirit moves.

* * *

Perhaps the wealthiest midget of his time is the 24-year-old, 50 pound John Roventi, page boy on a cigaret radio program and known to listeners as Johnny. Johnny was a bell hop in a New York hotel when a radio executive heard him paging and selected him for a new program. This was a little more than four years ago. Today Johnny has bought and furnished a home for his folks in Brooklyn, goes to a Fifth avenue tailor for his clothes and rides to broadcasts in an especially built small car with a chauffeur. Since the collapse of vaudeville and the dwindling in circuses things have not been rosy for "the strange little people." Most have returned to Austria, where a large number were born. They are invariably proud and no matter how low their estate will not accept charity.

Tom Heflin Returns

WASHINGTON—Probably one of the things President Roosevelt didn't think about when he appointed Hugo Black to the supreme court was that Tom Heflin would try to succeed Black in the senate.

The people outside Alabama who don't know former Senator Heflin could be counted in millions. But in his home state Heflin's pecan-shaped figure, reddish hair and smooth-fitting, buff-colored shoes are recognized at every cross-roads.

Likely he has told a rip-roaring story at each crossing accompanied by a booming laugh that rattled the audience off the fence rails. A man who spent 16 years in the house and 10 in the senate should be able to think of something funny at almost any moment.

Heflin, The Pope-Baiter.

Heflin was elected to the senate and soon thereafter won himself a kettleful of fame by attacking the Pope as a menace to peace in America. The Pope, said Heflin, was trying to get the United States to punish Mexico for roughing up the Catholic clergy down there.

He rode this hobby-horse in and out of the senate. Although few besides Heflin ever took it very seriously, he carried it so far as to bolt the Al Smith ticket in 1928.

In 1930 a Bankhead father-son cycle was completed after a 10 year interruption by Heflin. The great foe of the Pope had been elected to the senate in 1920 to succeed John H. Bankhead, father of the present congressional Bankheads, the speaker of the house and the senator. Speaker William Bankhead had been in congress several years before his elder brother polished off Heflin in the 1930 primary and so put another John H. Bankhead in the senate.

Hard times then came upon Heflin. Few politicians, especially the senatorial kind, amass real fortunes from politics; and Heflin was not one of those. He was in and out of Washington much of the time, and by 1935 had forgotten his anti-papal fervor and was glad of a few months work under the new deal. He became speaker extraordinary and ballyhooer plenipotentiary for the Atlanta district of the federal housing administration—at less than half his senatorial salary.

From time to time he breezed out on the senate floor in his fawn-colored suit, looking like a woodcut from a Civil war issue of Leslie's Weekly. During one of Huey Long's rampages in the senate, Heflin confided to news men that he would give his sartorially splendid left foot for an opportunity to go to bat in debate against the "Kingfish."

Heflin now says he will stump Alabama from end to end for the senate on a phrase he invented two years ago when Roosevelt appointed him Atlanta speaker for the housing administration. "Roosevelt has destroyed the power to create a panic."

As Heflin explained it to us, it sounded just a little vague. But he was never one to be bothered by details. After all, the slogan is one for Alabama to digest.

Today in Ohio History

Many Ohioans joined the "gold rush" to California in 1849 and helped form the early American settlements there. Because of this and because of its bearing on the slavery question Ohioans were intensely interested in the admission of California as a state of the Union. This was brought about as part of the celebrated "omnibus bill" of the "compromise of 1850." And while slavery forces won California as a free state, but had to accept a new and stringent fugitive slave law which caused much trouble, particularly in Ohio. California finally became a state on Sept. 9, 1850.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Olga Reveals Dead Maid Had Hidden Her Jewels.

QUEEN OLGA was so absorbed in her story that for a second she was not looking at us. I saw a furtive glance at Lillian, and I crossed a flashing glance to me. "What a yarn!" that seemed to say, and I almost echoed it aloud with an assenting gesture, so strong was my illusion that she had spoken.

As for one save those faithful ones who helped me know of the existence of that underground council room," Olga went on, "that hoard of gold, jewels and relics is probably safe for years. Even if the castle be destroyed, it will be safe, but so far—"

She checked herself abruptly and looked searchingly at us.

"Of course, they have not told me," she said, "for I have been so ill. But I am strong enough now to listen. Tell me, do you know anything of the castle?"

Not Informed

Lillian and I did not exchange glances, but I dropped a handkerchief and bent to pick it up, a signal that I wished her to answer. Instantly she fixed kindly, pitying eyes upon the invalid.

"We do not know anything," she said, stressing the verb. "Remember that the accounts from your country are most unreliable. But rumor says that the castle was razed to the ground. It is also believed that you and your daughter perished in the debacle."

She closed her eyes for an instant as if to shut out the vision of her ruined home. But when she opened them there was a certain joy mingled with her horror.

"Thank God! the rest were in another part of the country," she said, and in pity we did not tell her that rumor said no part of her native Transvania was free from revolution.

"I hope we can keep those fiends thinking we are dead for a while," Olga said next.

No Danger Now

"You overestimate the danger from them over here," Lillian promptly assured her. "Madge's father, with the aid of the government men, effectually destroyed those of the conspirators who were instrumental in kidnaping you and your daughter. The ones who are alive will be good behind bars for many years. There is no reason why you should preserve your incognito longer than you wish."

"There is one very strong reason," Queen Olga replied. "My very bread and butter may depend upon my remaining unknown until I have solved the mystery of what became of a small bag which Marie—my maid, who was killed—had sewn into her dress."

We looked up with quickened interest, for this was the first we had heard of any missing bag, and we had been with Queen Olga and her daughter almost every minute of that terrible night when they, as well as Noel, had so narrowly escaped death at the hands of the conspirators. Evidently the queen had kept more than one secret to herself since her rescue.

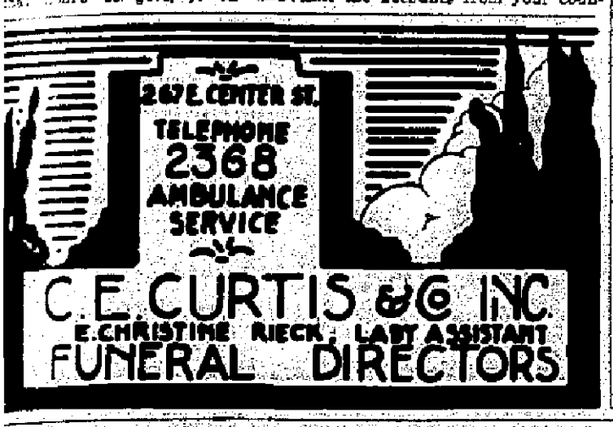

Bag Held Jewels

"The treasure in the strong room beneath our ruined home is safe, I am sure," she said. "And if ever I can go to my unhappy country again, I can get it, for there is another entrance to the underground room from a lonely, inconspicuous place in the castle grounds which is unlikely to be disturbed. I did not disclose that part of the secret to the men who helped me, and I alone know of it.

"But that does not help my immediate problem," she went on. "When I last was here, I put a small sum of money in a bank here, just about enough to discharge my debt to Philip Veritzen when I leave the hospital.

"But when I faced the fact that we must flee for our lives, I took my necklace of emeralds, worth literally a queen's ransom, and wrenched several valuable diamonds and rubies and sapphires from other pieces I possessed. These I wrapped in pieces of cotton fluff that they might not rattle or feel hard. I enclosed them first in an oiled cloth bag, and then in a piece of cloth matching Marie's gown. This she sewed securely inside her dress, hidden among its voluminous folds."

What To Do-

If Your Clothes Catch Fire

1. Do not run—that will fan the flames.
2. Wrap up in a rug, overcoat or some other heavy material. Drop to the floor and roll over slowly to smother the blaze. Do this even if you have no wrap.
3. Douse yourself with water if there's any around. Roll in the water that's spilled.
4. Cover your face with your arms and try not to inhale any flame.
5. Call a doctor.

By The Associated Press

If another person's clothes are afire you may have to knock him down to apply these measures prescribed by the National Safety Council in Chicago. Do not hesitate if that is necessary.

If the person suffers from shock after the fire is out lay him on his back with head low.

While waiting for the doctor, keep the victim warm, rub his limbs toward the body, have him smell aromatic spirits of ammonia and drink water, tea or fruit juice to help keep the body fluids from being depleted.

If the burns are slight, dust on dry baking soda through a clean thin cloth and bandage to keep the air out.

If the burns are severe (skin blistered or broken), apply a paste of baking soda and water and then bandage.
